115 Years of City Service

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — More than 100 persons turned out for a testimonial dinner at the Walnut Grove Saturday night for four Kingston firemen, retiring after a total of 115 years service to the city.

The honored guests were retiring firemen Captain Edwin P. Murphy (28 years) Captain Joseph Miles (28 years) Fire Fighter Edwin A. Van Etten (29 years) and Fire Fighter Arthur J. Golnek (29 years).

Captain Murphy was appointed a third grade fire fighter on Jan. 15, 1942. On Sept. 14 of that year he entered the Army returning to the ranks of the fire fighters on Nov. 16, 1945.

On Feb. 15, 1945, Murphy was promoted to fire captain an later served as commanding officer of both company two and three. He also served for a period as provisional deputy chief. Murphy retired on April 20, 1970.

Captain Miles was appointed a third grade fireman on Jan. 15, 1942. He entered the Navy on April 4, 1944, returning for duty in Kingston on Aug. 16, 1945. Miles was promoted to lieutenant on Feb. 8, 1961 and to captain on Jan. 10, 1970. Miles has served as fire inspector and has worked out of all three paid stations. He is a past president of Uniformed Fire Fighters Association Local 461 sponsores of Saturday night's testimonial dinner. Miles retired on July 12, 1970.

Fire Fighter Van Etten was appointed a third grade fire fighter on Feb. 9, 1941. On Sept. 28, 1942, Van Etten entered the Army Medical Corps, returning to the fire department on Dec. 1, 1945.

He has worked out of Central Station as the chief's driver and out of Wiltwyck as driver of both engine two and truck No. 2. He retired as a first grade fire fighter on July 11, 1970.

Fire Fighter Golnek was appointed a third grade fire fighter on April 1, 1941 and worked out of Central Station for many years as a tillerman on Truck No. 1.

Golnek, for the last several years before his retirement worked out of Central Station as a chief's driver. He retired as a first grade fire fighter on July 4, 1970.

William Schwerdtfeger, president of Local 461, was toastmaster for the dinner. Speakers included Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Fire Chief James M. Brett. Ross Ritto, president of the New York State Fire Fighters Association, traveled from Syracuse to be with the local firemen and gave a speech on the increasing danger of crimes against firemen carrying out their sworn duties.

The firemen also honored their attorney, S. James Matthews, presenting him with a plaque and an honorary life membership in their union.

The invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church and one of the department's chaplains.

They Almost Got Somebody's Goat

WALLKILL — Three Orange County youths were arrested early Sunday by Highland State Police in connection with a complaint that someone was attempting to steal a goat from a barn on the Wilber F. Buesing farm on Plains Road in this community.

Arrested by Trooper Frank Krasinski were Kenneth B. Haynes, 17, Bruce W. Bennett, 20 and John J. Maselli, 17, all of Newburgh.

Haynes and Bennett were cited for burglary third degree. Maselli was booked for conspiracy third degree.

Arraigned before New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider, the trio entered pleas of innocent and received adjournments for hearings until a later date. Judge Schneider fixed bail for Haynes and Bennett at $1,000 each, and $500 for Maselli.

Troopers said they received a call from Buesing's wife reporting the incident early yesterday. On arrival at the farm, police said, the trooper found the three youths being detailed by Buesing who held a shotgun.

Police reported that Haynes and Bennett allegedly entered a barn to take the goat and Maselli acted as a lookout in a car down Plains Road some distance from the farm.

Survey Concern – Drugs

KINGSTON — A public opinion survey conducted recently by Kingston Jaycees revealed in preliminary results that the greatest concern is the drug problem.

From the 500 questionnaires returned and studied by the Jaycees, about 15.6 per cent recognized that drug problem existed in high school and junior high scool.

Other areas of great concern were lack of recreational facilities noted by 7.8 per cent and the urban renewal situation cited by 7.7 per cent. Other areas of concern included traffic problems, pollution control and lack of new industry.

The fluoridation issue brought a 160 yes to 111 no, response with the 21 to 35 group largely in favor of fluoridation.

The local Jaycees conducted the community survey by distributing questionnaires from booths stationed at Sears Roebuck, Britts and Caldors. Other Jaycees conducted a door-to-door survey in the Kingston area. Survey Chairman Dennis Jordan said more detailed results will be announced.

PAPAL GESTURE — Pope Paul VI takes the hand of a crippled Samoan woman during his three-hour visit to this tiny nation yesterday. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Thousands Greet Pope in Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — With half the world and half his Far East trip behind him, Pope Paul VI became today the first Roman Catholic pontiff to visit Australia. Tens of thousands applauded as he rode through police cordons into Sydney.

Prime Minister John G. Gorton welcomed the frail 73-year-old Pope at the Sydney airport, saying: "Many of us have admired your fortitude in the extensive travels you have undertaken in the old world and the new."

The self-proclaimed "apostle on the move," Pope Paul now has visited every continent during his 7½ years in the Holy See except Antarctica.

His arrival in Sydney followed a gruelling 20 hours during which he flew 5,000 miles from Manila to Samoa, made appearances in American Samoa and the new independent nation of Western Samoa and then flew 2,400 miles to Australia. By crossing the International Date Line twice, he left Manila Saturday night, arrived in Samoa early Sunday, then got to Australia Sunday night.

A spokesman said the pontiff was "very tired" when he left Manila, but he slept all the way to Samoa and stepped briskly and refreshed from his chartered Italian jetliner at Pago Pago.

Security at Sydney was tighter than for any other visitor in the nation's history, including former President Lyndon B. Johnson. Australian authorities wanted no recurrence of the attempt on Pope Paul's life minutes after he arrived in Manila last Thursday, for which a Bolivian artist is charged with attempted murder and assault.

There was no trouble. About 5,000 persons roared greeting at the airport, though officials had expected as many as 50,000. Authorities attributed the lack of people to public fears of massive traffic jams.

The late afternoon sky was clear and sunny as the Pope expressed his friendship to all Australians. "We greet in a special way all the brothers of the Christian churches," he said. Most Australians are Protestant with the 3.3 million Roman Catholics amounting to just over one-fourth of the population.

After a short ceremony at the Town Hall, the Pope said Mass in the Gothic St. Mary's Cathedral. Ther he retired for the night to the residence of the papal nuncio.

Tuesday the Pope is to participate in discussions of the Catholic bishops' conferences of Australia and Oceania, both meeting in Sydney. He will celebrate huge open-air Masses Tuesday and Wednesday at Sydney's Randwick Racetrack before continuing his 28,000-mile trip by flying to Jakarta. After the Indonesian stopover, the Pope flies to Hong Kong, then Colombo and on to the Vatican.

A full schedule has been the keynote of the 10-day journey.

On his last day in Manila, Pope Paul visited a slum area, rode through placard-carrying pickets to the residence of Archbishop Rufino Cardinal Santos, attended the final session of the Asian Bishops' Conference and broadcast an address to Asians condemning the materialism of the West and the "militant atheism" of Communist China.

Standing on a dump truck's tailgate, the pontiff told the slumdwellers they should prepare for a "higher good . . . a kingdom of heaven" rather than seeking merely to get ahead economically.

As the papal limousine wound down a narrow dirt path to a carpenter's shack, neighbors stood waving from shaky tin rooftops. Inside the hut, he gave each of the carpenter's eight children a small chain and blessed a pile of rosaries brought in by neighbors.

A television reporter said Pope Paul pledged $10,000 for improvements to the community, but Vatican officials did not confirm this.

The protestors at Cardinal Santos' house demanded a new archbishop because they said the cardinal neglected the poor in favor of the rich. After his visit, the pontiff was helped down the steps and through the crowd.

Tactic Termed 'Protective Reaction'

U.S. Jet Strafes Gun Position in North

SAIGON (AP) — A U. S. fighter-bomber made another "self-defense" attack on North Vietnam early today, hitting an antiaircraft position 5½ miles north of the demilitarized zone before the gun post could fire on the plane.

Informed sources said the pilot of the F105 Thunderchief learned from his electronic detection gear that he was being tracked by the post's radar and that it had begun computing the point at which to fire.

A U.S. communique said the attack was "protective reaction against an enemy radar-controlled antiaircraft position" and that "protective reaction is the inherent right of self-defense."

It was the first U.S. air attack on North Vietnam reported in a week, since the heavy raids Nov. 21-22. In all previous air attacks on North Vietnam since the bombing halt two years ago, the United States claimed it was retaliating to attacks on unarmed American reconnaissance planes. But after the raids last weekend Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird broadened protective reaction to include protection for pilots flying strikes against North Vietnamese supply routes through Laos to Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The F105 that made the attack today was on such an attack mission and was not escorting a reconnaissance plane, informed sources said.

The American pilot attacked at night through overcast skies, guided by radar, and the U.S. Command said the results of the attack were not known. It was believed that, because of the weather, the pilot fired radar guided rockets or missiles.

"There was no damage to U.S. aircraft," said the U.S. communique.

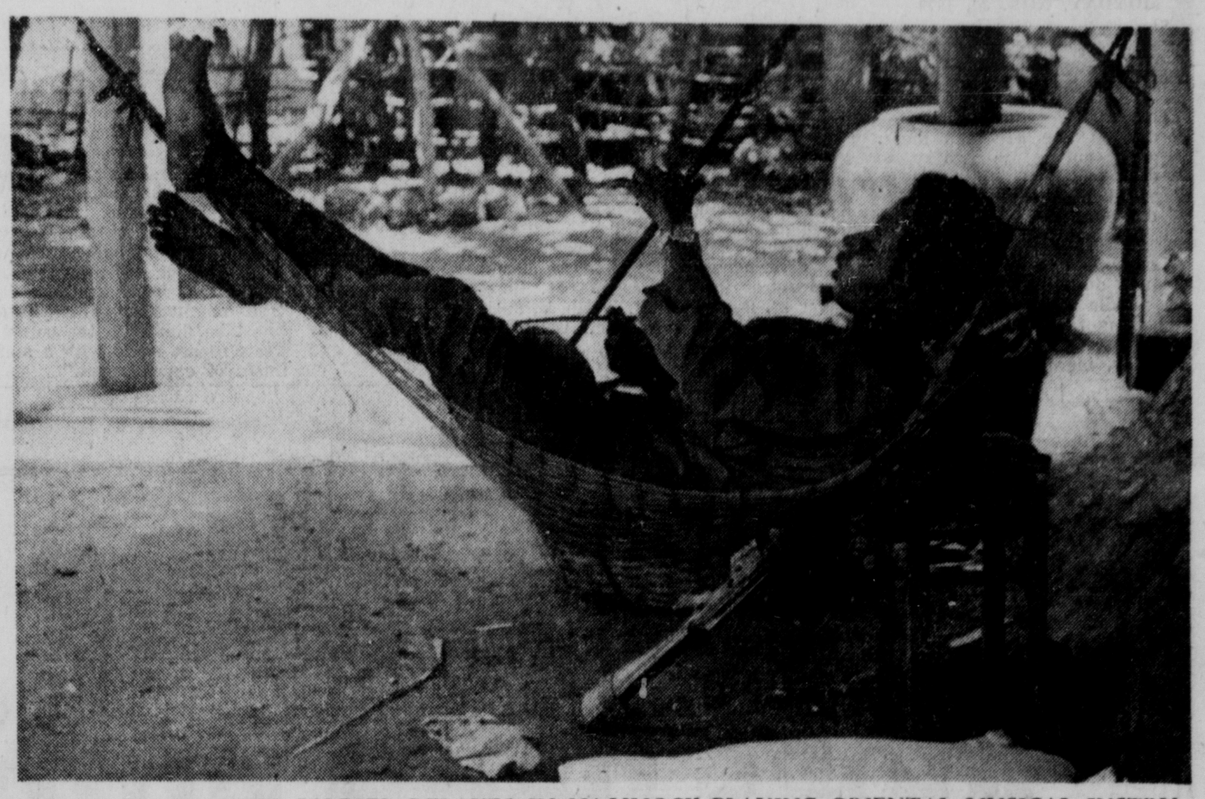

The U.S. Navy today announced another raid on a POW camp Nov. 22, this one in South Vietnam and this one successful. The Navy said a team of 15 Americans and 19 Vietnamese militiamen raided a Viet Cong camp in a dense bamboo grove in the southern Mekong Delta and freed 19 Vietnamese. Eighteen Viet Cong fled, two were captured, and the raiders suffered no casualties, the Navy said.

Elsewhere in the war, enemy ground troops stepped up attacks in both Vietnam and Cambodia.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported 23 enemy rocket and mortar attacks in Vietnam from 8 a.m. Saturday to 8 a.m. Sunday, the largest number in nearly two months. Casualties were reported light.

Half a dozen clashes were reported in the southern central highlands, with 54 enemy troops and seven South Vietnamese soldiers reported killed and 22 of Saigon's soldiers wounded.

Four dependents of South Vietnamese soldiers were also killed and six were wounded in one of the attacks.

UCCC Resumes, Optimism High

By JON POWERS

STONE RIDGE

Ulster County Community College opened its doors this morning after an "extended" Thanksgiving vacation with only the hoax of a bomb threat marring the normalcy of the campus.

The bomb threat, phoned in by an unidentified male caller at 9:32 a.m. to the main switchboard in the administration building, caused the evacuation of the college for an hour and 25 minutes. The school was evacuated in three minutes with no incidents and no bomb found.

A search of all the buildings was rapidly conducted by sheriff's deputies, state troopers from the Lake Katrine Barracks and campus security forces. The investigation is being continued by the State Police BCI.

Except for the brief evacuation of the college caused by the bomb threat, the scene today at UCCC was in sharp contrast to the past week and a half when a Faculty Association strike backed by 75 per cent of the college's teachers forced a shut down of the school on Nov. 18, five days before the scheduled Thanksgiving recess was to begin. It marked the first time that a faculty strike had forced closure of a New York State college.

Striking UCCC teachers had promised to return to work today if "meaningful" and "continuous" negotiations proceeded with the Ulster County Legislature's bargaining team.

The teachers today honored that promise, and sentiment from parties on both sides of the fence indicates that a contract settlement is imminent.

Another negotiating session between the faculty and legislators is scheduled for 7:30 tonight at the Ulster County Office Building. According to Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago and representatives of the Faculty Association, tonight's meeting will be to further discuss contract terms and, possibly, "to wrap it up."

The quick turn-about in cooperation between the two sides began Wednesday, in the second negotiating session held since the strike. That meeting was described as a "thawing out session" and marked the first time that the two parties had expressed near-agreement on several crucial points.

After an eight-hour bargaining session Friday, Savago and Faculty Association President Richard Smith announced that "substantial progress" had been made towards an agreement. "Further negotiations," they noted, "will continue to complete the agreement."

Despite the optimism of both sides after Friday's meeting, there was no word on points of agreement that were reached between teachers and legislators. With the exception of Saturday's brief statement by Smith and Savago, the declared press embargo on bargaining talks has continued.

Nikita Praises Ike's Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—The second installment of Nikita S. Khrushchev's reminiscences says that if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower hadn't let the Russians take Berlin in 1945, the Soviet position in postwar Europe "might have turned out quite a bit worse."

The installment published in the Dec. 4 issue of Life magazine says Stalin had a great respect for Eisenhower's "decency, generosity and chivalry" and enjoyed a rapport with him that the Soviet dictator had with no other allied leader except President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Stalin said that if it hadn't been for Eisenhower, we wouldn't have succeeded in capturing Berlin," the article says. "The Americans could have been there first. Eisenhower held his troops back and halted their offensive, thus allowing our troops to take Berlin.

"If he hadn't done this, the question of Germany might have been decided differently, and our own position might have turned out quite a bit worse."

As the German army was being crunched between the Americans and British on the we and the Soviets on the east, the article continues, "they moved west to surrender to the Americans. Stalin addressed himself to Eisenhower, saying that Soviet troops had shed their blood to crush the Germans and now the Germans were surrendering to the Americans.

"Eisenhower ordered the commander of the German army to surrender to the Russians."

Khrushchev said it was "difficult to judge what the intentions of the Allies were toward the end of the war. I wouldn't exclude the possibility that their desire to postpone an assault on Hitler's Western Front was dictated by their desire to put a still greater burden on the shoulders of the Soviet Union and to bleed us even more . . .

"The Western Allies were certainly not interested in strengthening us. England and America, from their class positions, knew they had to help us to an extent, but they still wanted the Soviet Union to be considerably weaker after the war so that they could dictate their will to us . . .

"Nevertheless, we must still give credit to the Allies for their contribution to the common cause . . . Unfortunately our historical works about World War II have perpetrated an illusion. They have been written out of a false sense of pride and out of a fear to tell the truth about our allies' contribution—all because Stalin himself held an incorrect, unrealistic position. He knew the truth, but he admitted it only to himself in the toilet."

The article speaks of Stalin in softer tones than the first one in the Nov. 27 edition of Life. In it Stalin was depicted as murderer of thousands who became unbalanced during the war.

"Khrushchev Remembers: Part II" continues in the derogatory vein, however. It says "Stalin's nerves cracked when he learned about the fall of France."

After the successful defense of Moscow in December 1941, Khrushchev says he found Stalin "a new man. He had pulled himself together and was acting like a real soldier. . . . But I knew what sort of hero he was. I'd seen him when he had been paralyzed by his fear of Hitler, like a rabbit in front of a boa constrictor. And my opinion of him hadn't changed."

Although the Soviet press published a statement over Khrushchev's signature repudiating the memoirs, reliable sources in Moscow said last week the former premier probably had taped the reminiscences. These sources said the Kremlin probably leaked the memoirs to Life before they could be edited and checked for accuracy, hoping that they would be discredited by errors Khrushchev made due to faulty memory and lack of access to official records.

NIKITA'S NARRATIVE — The second of four excerpts from the book "Khrushchev Remembers," published in Life magazine, deals entirely with World War II. Khrushchev, shown in the liberated Stalingrad (now Volgograd) in 1943, takes sharp issue with the official Soviet line that his country "vanquished the Germans all by ourselves and that the Allies moved in only for the kill." Upstate Barge Explosion

Paltz Man Presumed Dead

WATKINS GLEN

A New Paltz man and two other crew members are missing and presumed dead after a barge carrying more than 500,000 gallons of automobile gasoline exploded and burned in Watkins Glen Harbor on Seneca Lake.

Reported missing today were Charles Wellington, 42, of New Paltz, the acting barge captain; Peter Pederson, 53, of Warwick and Edward Bixby, 57, of Syracuse.

Wellington and Pederson were blown off the deck by the blast. Bixby was last seen alive in the hold of the barge, preparing to start the diesel engine, according to United Press International.

Fire officials theorized that a spark generated by the diesel engine which pumps gasoline from the 20 by 75-foot barge into the harbor holding tanks may have touched off the explosion.

After the 3:30 a.m. blast, the barge was towed away from the harbor and toward the middle of the lake to burn itself out. The tug Crow, which had powered the barge through the barge canal from Buffalo, was still attached when the explosion occurred but suffered only shattered windows. No other vessels were in the harbor.

Richard Barnes, terminal manager for Southern Oil Co. of New York, said he was stepping from the tug to the barge to measure the shipment when the explosion occurred and he heard Bixby screaming in pain.

"I was out there when it blew," Barnes said. "I was about a third of the way up and was just going aboard. I heard one of the men screaming and I don't want to hear it again."

Barnes suffered a cut forehead but did not require hospitalization. He said Peter Serba of New York City, the tug captain, told him to go ashore and alert fire authorities.

The Watkins Glen Fire Department responded but was unable to extinguish the fire. After more than an hour, the tug towed the burning barge out.

Gasoline burned on the water of the harbor for a short while after the barge left.

The barge carried high test and regular Rotary brand gasoline from Buffalo for storage in the large harbor holding tanks. It was to be the last such gasoline shipment through the canal to this area until the end of winter.

The barge was stopped at the unloading station about 150 feet from shore at the southern end of the central New York lake when the mishap occurred.

Police Tuned to a TV Heist

KINGSTON — Alertness of two Kingston patrolmen early today resulted in the arrests of three men on charges involving the alleged theft of four color television sets from rooms at the Holiday Inn valued at $1,100, according to police.

Officers Alan Glassman and Larry Stead were on patrol after 3 a.m. when they spotted a car pulling out of the motel parking lot, and noticed television sets in the vehicle. Meanwhile, an employe at the motel noticed that an alarm in the building indicated someone had entered rooms. He called police.

Investigation disclosed that the television sets were missing from the motel rooms. Each set was valued at $275, police were told.

After questioning at police headquarters, the three men were booked on charges of grand larceny, burglary third degree and possessing burglar tools.

The accused trio was identified on police records as Louis J. Frexler, 30, of 1342 Lenox Avenue, Miami Beach, Fla., Sandor Suto, 35, of 2023 Creston Avenue, the Bronx, and 40-year-old Teddy M. Raf'man, whose address was lister' as the Y.M.C.A. 34th Street, New York City.

Police committed the men to the county jail pending appearances before City Judge Hubert A. Richter. The investigation is continuing.

CALL HOOVER 'OVER GENEROUS' — Imprisoned Roman Catholic priests Philip Berrigan and Daniel Berrigan (R) said Saturday they were members of a group FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover claimed was plotting to kidnap high government officials, but said Hoover was "over generous" in attributing the plot to them. Hoover said on Friday that an anti-war group was planning to hold government officials hostage until the Nixon administration agreed to stop the bombing in Southeast Asia. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Shrimp Job — More Arrests

By WALTER S. CLARK

MARLBORO — State Police BCI officers from Kingston and New York City detectives today pursued investigation of the recovery of a cargo of contraband frozen shrimp worth more than $75,000 that was found in an abandoned barn on Conway Road in this community.

Three men have been taken into custody on charges of criminal possession of stolen property first degree. More arrests were expected in connection with the reported hijacking of a tractor-trailer and the shrimp which occurred late last week in New York City.

Arrested by State and local police were Henry R. Wenzel, 39, of Bingham Road, Marlboro; Joseph DeSimone, 36, of 561 Henry Street and Michael J. Hanley, 30, of 529 5th Avenue, both Brooklyn.

Arraigned before Town Justice Patrick Mataraza on Saturday, the three accused men pleaded innocent, and preliminary hearings were adjourned until Dec. 15.

DeSimone and Hanley were identified as New York City longshoremen. Wenzel reportedly owns the farm where the shrimp and an abandoned truck were found.

A second truck with a load of frozen shrimp worth $50,000 that was reportedly hijacked hours after the one recovered in Marlboro, was still being sought by authorities.

Senior BCI Investigator Edward Shannon, who directed the investigation with Town Police Chief William Onusko and BCI officers, said more arrests were expected in the immediate future.

Bell Eyes Full Campaign Costs Curb

KINGSTON — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell is pre-filing a bill to control all forms of campaign spending.

If a candidate exceeds the limitations specified in the Bell proposal and is elected, the results of the election can be set aside, the candidate disqualified, a new election ordered, and the offending candidate will be ineligible to run for any public or party office for a period of two years.

Assemblyman Bell says: "A law to set effective limits on campaign spending must be made a key issue of high priority at the 1971 general session. If effective controls are not enacted and enforced, elective public service may well become a plaything for the rich." Bell said and added, "One wonders what chance Abe Lincoln would have had in today's 'big money' politics. Money is no longer a key ingredient for national elections; is also is becoming very important in local elections," Bell said.

"Highlights of the bill include:

● In primaries each candidate would be limited to spending 15 cents per enrolled voter and in general or special elections the same limit of 15 cents per registered voter for the constituency involved. The sum of 15 cents may be low, it may be high and it certainly can be changed from time to time to reflect inflation and other considerations. A 15 cent limit per voter in general elections would mean with today's estimated general registration figures, a limit of about $10,000 for an Assembly district campaign, $25,- for a Senatorial district campaign, $75,000 for a Congressional district campaign and about $1,250,000 for a campaign for a statewide office such as Governor.

● Anyone who violates the legal limit would be ineligible to run for or hold public or party office for a period of two years.

● The limits would apply to all expenditures of money, goods or other items or efforts of value by whomever made on behalf of an individual candidate.

● No committee, combination of committees, or other entity, may work on behalf of a candidate without written prior authorization from the candidate and the written authorization must be filed with the committee's report along with a statement of expenditures."

U.S. to Orbit World's Largest Space Telescope

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The U.S. space agency readied the world's largest space telescope for launch at sunset today to give astronomers their clearest view yet of distant stars and galaxies.

The $83 million Stargazer, third of four automated orbiting astronomical observatories (OAO), was to be propelled into a 66-mile high orbit by an Atlas-Centaur rocket. Everything was reported proceeding smoothly toward a 5:30 p.m. EST blastoff.

The shot was delayed from last Monday because of a troublesome gyroscope assembly in the autopilot of the Atlas first stage. A new unit was installed and tested Friday and the first part of the countdown resumed Sunday.

The 4,680-pound spacecraft is considered the most complex unmanned satellite built by the United States and its 38-inch diameter Cassegrainian telescope is the most powerful to be placed in space.

Operating from above earth's hazy atmosphere, the satellite will be able to observe heretofore unseen detail of stars and galaxies deep in the universe. It is expected to be able to see stars eight times fainter than those seen by the 16-inch telescope in AOAO 2, launched two years ago.

The primary objective of the new spacecraft is to study the ultraviolet light emitted by unusually hot stars. These stars have a relatively brief life span —measured in millions of years —and can be seen from space in all stages of development. The view is blocked from ground observatories by earth's atmosphere.

Those orbital observations are expected to tell astronomers more about the birth, life and death of stars. That, in turn, could give astronomers an idea about the future of the sun, a cooler star which should last billions of more years.

"We want to learn as much as we can about what makes stars tick, what makes them go," said Dr. Albert Boggess, scientist in charge of the observatory's telescope.

In addition to study stars, the spacecraft will examine the great clouds of dust and gas from which stars develop. It also will look at quasars, the most distant known celestial systems.

OAO 3 was built by the Grumman Aerospace Corp., Bethpage, N.Y., and its telescope was manufactured by the Kollsman Instrument Corp., Syosset, N. Y. General Dynamics Corp., San Diego, Calif., built the Atlas-Centaur rocket.

Craft Taken, Pilot Sought

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The FBI is looking for a red-haired pilot who stole a twin-engined plane from Jacksonville Airport, flew it to Puerto Rico by way of Venezuela, and abandoned it outside San Juan.

The agents also would like to talk with four passengers he picked up somewhere along the way. Where they got on or off was unknown.

The aircraft is a $250,000 turbojet which had been used as a company plane by the Lehigh Cement Co. and was being offered for sale.

Pilot Sherrell D. Roberts said the young thief came to look at it last week and said he would be back.

A man who identified himself as an airplane broker called the airport Friday and said the young man had bought the plane.

A few hours later, the mystery man showed up at the field, boarded the plane and flew away.

He next appeared at Fort Lauderdale where, authorities said, he bought gasoline with a bogus credit card and filed a flight plan for San Juan.

His next known stop was at Grand Turk Island, about 350 miles northwest of San Juan.

Air Force personnel at a U.S. base there refueled the plane, and, after the pilot remarked that he wasn't exactly sure of the way to Puerto Rico, pointed him in the right direction. Airmen said the pilot by then had acquired four Spanish-looking passengers.

Some hours later the plane showed up in Caracas, Venezuela, about 500 miles south of San Juan. The pilot used his bogus credit card again for more gas, and headed north.

This time he landed at an abandoned airport outside of San Juan. He abandoned the airplane and has not been seen since.

Meanwhile, the airmen at Grand Turk had become suspicious and contacted the Federal Aviation Administration in Miami. The FBI was called in.

The Coast Guard had been searching for the flyer because he failed to show up in Puerto Rico on time. The search was abandoned when the FAA found that the aircraft number on the flight plan belonged to a single-engined plane sitting in a hangar in Texas.

CHRISTMAS GESTURE — A rumor in court circles suggests that Queen Elizabeth, as a Christmas gesture to her uncle the Duke of Windsor, may raise to the rank of royalty his wife the Duchess of Windsor. The Duke of Windsor, who gave up his throne in 1937 to marry the former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, an American divorcee, has repeatedly made this request so that his wife may be buried beside him in the vaults of his royal ancestors near Windsor Castle. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Plane Feared Down

BUFFALO (AP) — U.S. Coast Guard vessels searched today for a missing single-engine plane believed to have seven persons aboard and feared down in Lake Erie between Dunkirk, N.Y., and Long Point, Ont.

The pilot of the Cessna 172 craft was identified as Larry Fayton of Birmingham, Mich. The passengers were not identified but were believed to be his wife and children.

Federal Aviation Agency sources in Buffalo said the plane left Ithaca, N.Y. at 2:10 p.m. EDT Sunday afternoon for Pontiac, Mich. The FAA said Fayton landed for a scheduled stop at Dunkirk and made radio contact while over Lake Eire at 5:33 p.m.

'Big Nell' in the News Again

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UPI)— Nellie May Latimore told police it was a big mistake, that the girls were house guests who had done no wrong.

However, "Big Nell" and five other women were held today in Orange County jail on prostitution charges after a predawn raid carried out Sunday by state police.

Nell's well-known brothel has been operating with occasional interruptions for about 20 years. It made the news in early October when it was discovered that urban renewal maps showed the six-bedroom house to be eligible for urban renewal funds while a nearby, historic Dutch Reformed Church was in the demolition area.

Nell subsequently said she would not apply for funds and city officials said they hoped to save the church and had no plans to aid Nell's house—classified by the city building inspector as a one-family home with 16 occupants.

Back in October, city officials said they were surprised to learn that Nell's was operating. After Sunday's raid, carried out by State Police, County Dist. Atty. Angelo Ingrassa said he was "amazed that the establishment was still in full operation."

"It is difficult to understand how such a condition could exist," Ingrassa said. The district attorney's office held the investigation which led to the raid.

WALTER A. DeLAMATER

'Eye Trouble' Led to National Foundation

RHINEBECK — Maj. Gen. Walter A. DeLamater, U.S.A. ret., had an associate in 1955 who had "trouble with his eyes." Out of this observation was born the Knights Templar Eye Foundation, Inc., with headquarters in Rhinebeck.

In speaking with Gen. DeLamater at his second-floor offices at 30 East Market Street, The Freeman learned the incredible story of how this branch of the Masons put together a multi-million-dollar charitable organization, largely through the efforts of founder and executive director DeLamater.

The foundation has as its express purpose "research, surgical treatment, and hospitalization of those who suffer from diseases of, or injury to, the eye which if untreated might result in blindness."

And a parallel goal of the Foundation is treatment of children under 16 with cross-eyes, strabismus.

The Foundation puts up 1000 per cent of the cost of surgical fees and hospitalization of those accepted. The sole requirement for acceptance is the inability to pay for operations.

Since 1957, when the Foundation got underway, there have been nearly 15,000 cases aided, with about $4½ million expended for necessary expenses.

In addition, the Foundation has contributed $578,000 for research on blindness, including a check for $25,000 this month to the New York City Eye Bank and Sight Restoration Foundation for research on the artificial cornea.

The headquarters for this nationwide program are in Rhinebeck "because I live in Rhinebeck," said DeLamater, who will be 91 in April.

Ophthalmologist advisors are scattered across the country, although each patient may choose his own doctor. They include some of the top names in eye surgery. R. Townley Paton, M.D. of New York is a consultant, and founder of the New York Eye Bank.

Those who wish to leave their eyes to eye banks are urged to fill out a form, available from the Rhinebeck office, to be carried on the person.

The names are put on file, and the eyes should be taken to the nearest eye bank upon death because the cornea can damage if too much time elapses.

He estimated that the cornea must be recovered within 10 to 12 hours after death, and that the age of the donor makes no difference as long as the cornea is not scarred.

The Foundation does not put any money into buildings. "We have persons use existing facilities," said the general, "because the money we save on bricks and mortar can be used to help more people."

Every Knight Templar is assessed $1 a year, or can make a $30 lifetime donation, for the Foundation. Gifts and endowments make up a large part of the operating funds also.

There is presently about $1.3 million in a permanent endowment fund, and another ¾ million dollars in a general fund.

"Some people might think we are rich," said DeLamater, "but the average operation costs $850, and we had more than 1,000 of those last year."

He said that Mrs. Vincent Astor mentioned, upon donating on one occasion to the Foundation, that she admired the method of keeping overhead to a minimum.

The five rooms in Rhinebeck are used by DeLamater every working day as well as a staff of seven women in secretarial, filing, and keypunch work.

DeLamater still flies around the country, giving talks and has met such eminent persons as the late President Eisenhower and then Vice-President Nixon.

Peace by Rule of Law

Fifteen thousand Rotarians will be getting together in Sydney, Australia, next May for their international convention. One session will bring before them world leaders speaking on how laymen can build law into a force for world order with justice.

Two months later in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, some 4,000 lawyers and high court justices from more than 100 countries will participate in the Fifth World Conference on World Peace Through Law.

And so the search for the rule of law, rather than the rule of arms, on this earth goes on.

Can it ever succeed, considering history and the faults of nations, which are merely magnified reflections of the faults of men?

It can—it must, believes the former president of the American Bar Association, Charles S. Rhyne, who spoke on this subject at the Nov. 25 World Law Day observance in Paris. Rhyne, whose list of legal accomplishments both at home and abroad is long, noted:

"The way of the law is the only proven path to peace. Let all the world's peoples resolve to follow that path and follow it together. If the peoples want peace enough to work hard for it they can indeed have peace. The minds, the support, the faith, the enthusiasm, the confidence of mankind must be marshaled back of the law as the road to peace. It is a long, hard road but there is no other way . . . the peoples of the world can do the necessary to translate world order with justice into reality in our day."

As president of the World Peace Through Law Center in Geneva, Rhyne has put muscle behind his words. Created in 1963, the center is the world's largest international law organization, with members in 128 nations.

It founded the World Association of Judges; approved a set of general principles of law adhered to by civilized nations; drew up and circulated throughout the world model treaties on various subjects open to dispute; published a directory of judges and lawyers in more than 135 nations; set up work programs in international law, and co-ordinated and gathered information on world law.

But Rhyne knows that neither the center nor lawyers alone can accomplish the mission. Far from it. He urges multinational corporations and international labor unions to work toward world law. He notes that most laymen belong to some organization—civic, educational, scientific, commercial, religious, professional—and he urges members to prompt their groups to study world law and promote it. He addresses a special word to the young:

"The youth of the world, who are called upon to do the fighting, are not convinced that civilized man must engage in organized killing and maiming of human beings, accompanied by massive suffering of the innocent, to decide disputes. They look for a rational way to advance a cause or defend a right."

Pointing out that in the 20th century alone, the number of casualties directly or indirectly due to war totals over 100 million, and that the major nations of the world are spending $200 billion yearly on arms and armed forces (a 50 per cent increase in the last six years), Rhyne nevertheless looks into the decade ahead with hope:

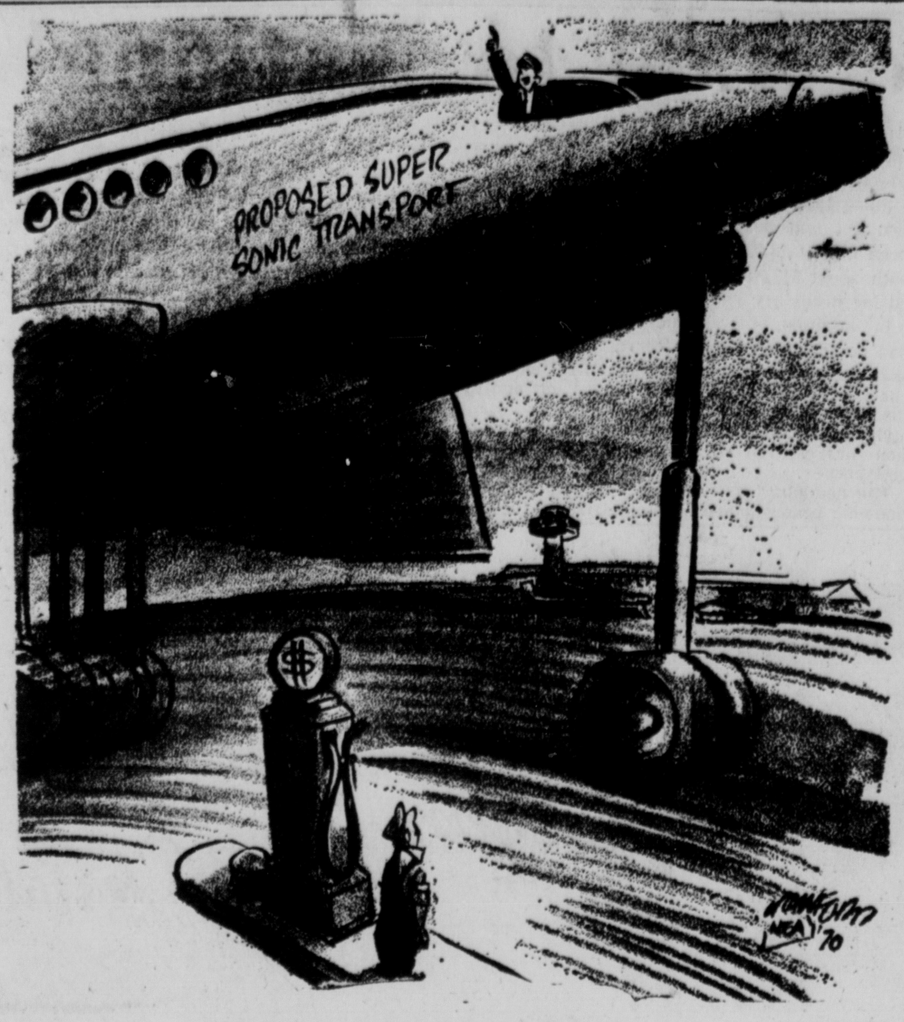

"A generation which has done so many heretofore 'impossible' things like splitting the atom and developing cures for 'incurable' diseases like polio should not feel inadequate to create peace. Rather than base life in the 1970s on eternal preparation for war, we must base it upon eternal preparation — massive preparation — for peace."

Job Training

The rising unemployment has turned congressmen's minds to job training as a way of reducing unemployment. The House Education and Labor committee has approved a three-year $7.5 billion manpower training program which it calls a "real revenue sharing venture" for cities and states. It says the taxpayer will get a meaningful return for his money, in terms of reduced welfare and workmen's compensation payments, and added tax payments by those who go off the idle rolls.

In addition to job training, the bill provides funds for workers to prepare for public service jobs as the "employer of last resort" where no private jobs are available. It also allows local communities to form job training programs of their own with federal help. It eases the unemployment crunch through programs in education, environment, health and neighborhood improvement, its sponsors say.

However, this language is reminiscent of the "made work" of the WPA of the New Deal era. Unemployment is high, but not as high as the immediate post-recession days when WPA was invented to put millions to work who could not get jobs in private industry. Surely, there must be better ways to spend $7.5 billion in three years to create real jobs with a future, rather than work that sounds very much like the boondoggling of an earlier period.

"Fill 'er Up!"

David Lawrence Says
Government Must Take Firm Stand to Halt Inflation

WASHINGTON

The federal government is up against one of the most challenging dilemmas it has faced since the constitution gave it the authority "to regulate interstate commerce." The economic condition of the country has become a responsibility of the chief executive, but unless he can control the monopolistic power exercised by private business and unions in the fixing of wage scales and prices, the all-important problem of inflation will not be solved.

Yet today in the government there is a reluctance to impose wage and price controls for fear of political repercussions. Inflation cannot be curbed except by drastic measures. If wages and prices are not held down, the inflation will get further out of hand and the whole economy can drift into a serious depression.

Inside Washington an undercurrent of hopefulness prevails that somehow the inflationary problem will gradually be replaced by a condition of stability. With so many large wage increases being granted or being demanded under the threat of strikes, it's difficult to see how any such stability can be accomplished unless the government steps in with a firm hand.

The nation's railroads agreed to accept a labor contract, with a 37 per cent wage increase, which was proposed by a government commission. The unions, however, immediately rejected the settlement, and perhaps there will be a nationwide rail strike on December 11. The Ford Motor Company is threatened with a strike on December 7 unless a new contract is reached, and negotiations at Chrysler are still under way, with a strike deadline not set as yet.

With these big strikes in the offing, the President is expected to issue a statement in which he may criticize business as well as labor for failure to consider the over-all interests of the country and particularly to take into account productivity in setting wage rates. The teamsters' union and some of the building-trades craft unions may be among those singled out by the President as having sought and obtained "unreasonable" wage increases. But it is not clear how such public criticism would be of any lasting avail.

The truth is that if one of the labor unions gets a 30 per cent increase, members of other unions want to know why they can't have the same thing. The pattern worked out in the General Motors settlement is being taken into the bargaining talks of the United Automobile Workers with other auto companies and the major manufacturers of farm equipment and highway-building machinery.

Cost-of-living allowances are to be the number one priority in the steelworkers' negotiations which are to begin in a few months, and the union members are reported ready to strike to gain them. There are demands not only for a "very substantial" wage increase but also for bigger pension benefits and longer vacations. Union leaders declare that purchasing power must be restored by higher wages, and there appears to be a call for earlier retirement benefits of the type won from General Motors, along with "guaranteed salaries" and a shorter workweek. In some instances, a four-day week is being proposed.

The unions seek major gains in the can industry, and these will affect bargaining in copper, aluminum and basic steel, too. More than a million workers, it is said, will be involved in the steelworkers' parleys.

So, with the threat of strikes, many industries are confronted with the necessity of doing their utmost to meet union demands. Whether or not their own prices will have to be raised to absorb the new expenses is another matter. The automobile industry has already indicated that the cost of cars will go higher.

Without rigid restraints on wages and prices, the inflationary trend may be expected to continue indefinitely. This will mean that there will be no lessening of demands for wage increases, and the economy will be adversely affected in the next two years. With a presidential election in November 1972, it would seem that every effort would be made by the administration in power to bring about stable conditions before that time. Thus far, however, there are no signs that any really restrictive measures are planned. The "game" is to drift along in the hope that the situation will somehow right itself.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

When doctors and their wives go out to dinner, the women talk across the table about clothes and children. The men discuss their profession, either performing an "operation" on other doctors, or talking over unusual cases. Last week, Dr. Jack Mickley, the prince of pathologists, joined Dr. Paul Maas, who is in charge of an emergency room, and Dr. Lester Keiser, a psychiatrist.

The dinner was good, but the conversation between Jean Maas, Esther Mickley and Evelyn Keiser had to cut through the gruesome details told about a famed surgeon who, while removing a leg, left the flaps on the wrong side and sobbed: "My mistake. I cut the patient off the leg, instead of the leg off the patient."

Mickley, who looks like a statue of Bismarck melted down, comes from Gettysburg, Pa. He is better than a story-teller. Mickley is a raconteur with a macabre sense of humor. This is natural, because he is the last of a long line of pathologists who administer mortuaries and, when asked how things are, murmurs: "Pretty dead around here."

Maas, a handsome man who runs his emergency room like a confident juggler — never knows what the ambulance will bring in next — treats drunks and fractured skulls with equal aplomb. Keiser, an avant garde psychiatrist, was holding Evelyn's hand under the table.

They talked so much that no one knew what the dinner had been like when they paid the check, but I was fascinated with Mickley, who talks like Edgar Allan Poe writes. He once had a pet Norwegian rat who sat on his shoulder and resisted all his natural impulses when he saw that big ear.

Mickley was a young man working in a Maryland hospital when the deceased began to roll through the mortuary one morning like a parade of the supine. They were placed in a big cooler. One table came along and it had a shoebox on it. The doctor looked in. Under the lid was a newborn baby.

He felt little sympathy for the demise of the very old, but there is something about a dead infant which shrinks the soul. He placed the shoebox in the cooler and went back to autopsies. Fifteen minutes later, the tiled room was filled with the faint wail of a baby.

Dr. Mickley ran into the big butcher box, lifted the lid of the shoebox, and saw a healthy infant squalling as though its heart would break. Tenderly, he lifted it to his breast, and wrapped the first clean sheet he could find around the baby. He sent it back up to the bereft mother. Meanwhile, the family had signed a death certificate.

He never spoke to Mickley again.

Away back when Mickley's father was a frock-coated pathologist, Maryland sentenced a middle-aged man to be hanged.

Except for one slip of the knife he was a likeable man. For months in the death cell, he shivered and shook and sobbed. He was afraid that, when the time came, he would lose his nerve. The prison physician, who had never felt pity or empathy for anyone since the last time he touched one of his hands to the other, felt sorry for the man.

"Listen," he said one day, "I'm not supposed to do anything, but I am making a solemn promise to you that, when you go, you won't even know about it. I'll take care of you. You won't lose your nerve." The prisoner kissed the doctor's hand.

In those days, all executions were to take place one minute after 12. At 11:30, the doctor slipped into the death cell, ordered the guards away, and said: "Roll your sleeve up." The doctor opened his bag and shot eight full grains of morphine into the arm. This would be enough to kill a brewery horse.

At 11:45, the prisoner felt gay and giddy. At 12, he could barely walk to the door with assistance. He was dying of morphine. As he walked up the steps to the gallows, head high, the warden ran out waving a paper. "Stop it," he said. "The governor has just commuted this man's sentence to life imprisonment."

The prisoner fell dead. The doctor was no fool. He signed the death certificate and wrote, "Primary cause of death: heart attack induced by last minute reprieve from the governor."

Jean Maas roared with laughter. She was listening to a story about a girl six feet tall in a miniskirt bending to pick up a dime she had dropped . . .

Jack Anderson Says
White House Weighs Commando Raids to Slay Hanoi Leaders

WASHINGTON

A backroom controversy has erupted over Secretary of Defense Mel Laird's threat to take "unusual means" to free U.S. prisoners in Vietnam and White House press secretary Ron Ziegler's warning that North Vietnamese leaders would be held "personally responsible" for any retaliation against prisoners.

One idea that has been discussed at the highest levels is to send helicopter commandos into Hanoi to kidnap or assassinate North Vietnamese leaders who are responsible for prisoner abuse.

The idea of dispatching a suicide squad to wipe out Hanoi's top leaders had been considered and discarded earlier. It was decided that the slain leaders would merely be replaced by others even more intransigent. A plot against the Hanoi leadership might also encourage them to organize terrorist attacks upon U.S. leaders. In any case, this wasn't the way Washington wanted to fight the Vietnam War.

But President Nixon is coming around to the view, say insiders, that drastic action may be required to protect our prisoners. He hasn't ruled out the possibility of using commandos to retaliate against the North Vietnamese leaders who sanction the mistreatment of prisoners.

Meanwhile, Laird's hint that unorthodox means — presumably new commando raids — would be used to free American prisoners has caused misgivings in the backrooms. The abortive Son Tay raid, they feel, has now alerted the North Vietnamese who will guard the prison camps against airborne commandos.

All five known prison camps are located in the Hanoi environs. Only Son Tay was sufficiently isolated to make the helicopter raid feasible. The other four are surrounded by too much development. In any case, the prisoners probably will be moved frequently now as a security measure.

There is also concern that the guards may kill the prisoners at the approach of a raiding party. Previous rescue attempts in South Vietnam failed. But a South Vietnamese unit once stumbled accidentally upon a prison camp. Before the prisoners could be rescued, the Viet Cong guards bashed in the head of the only American prisoner.

Footnote: Some U.S. officials believe the Son Tay prisoners weren't far away when the commandos arrived to rescue them. A close study of the available intelligence has convinced these officials that the prisoners may have been within the grasp of the rescuers, possibly in a nearby compound.

Grand Jury Probe

A Federal Grand Jury here is investigating charges that the United Mine Workers made an illegal $30,000 contribution to the 1968 presidential campaign of Hubert Humphrey.

The entire staff of labor's Non-Partisan League, the union's political arm, has been subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury tomorrow, December 1.

Although Justice Department officials working on the case would not discuss the specifics, this column was able to learn from other sources the following facts about the investigation:

The $30,000 was allegedly paid from union funds to the two top officers of the league. They, in turn, allegedly passed it on to the Humphrey campaign by checks drawn on their own bank accounts or those of members of their families.

Campaign contributions from a union treasury are illegal, even if they are funneled through individuals so as to appear to be personal contributions.

Those subpoenaed are James Kmetz, the present league director, Robert Howe, the retired league director who was in charge in 1968, Anna Love Rothwell, the league bookkeeper, and a secretary.

The Internal Revenue Service originally investigated the donation, which was allegedly ordered by union president Tony Boyle. The investigation was impeded, however, when the union was unable to produce the League's books for the period in question.

At the time, Howe, who reportedly has an extra set of books, was out of town. When he returned 10 days ago, he is said to have received a call from union officials instructing him to bring the books to UMW headquarters.

The same night, however, he also received a call from the IRS, which ordered him not to take the books to the UMW. He is said to have received similar instructions from the FBI.

Howe, apparently, will produce the books for the Grand Jury.

Doctor Shortage

The American Medical Association has deliberately sought to hold down the number of doctors in this country so they can continue to charge high fees.

This is accomplished by rigid control of medical schools. Result: only half of the applicants are accepted.

Dr. Neil Soloman, the Maryland public health director, has now arranged with Johns Hopkins University, in defiance of the AMA, to introduce a pilot program to speed up medical training.

Under the program, high school students will begin their pre-med training in their last two years of high school. Then they will take another two years in college, followed by three years of medical school. This shortened seven-year course, if it should be adopted by other schools, could open the medical field to more aspirants and eliminate the doctor shortage.

Reverse Discrimination

Under pressure to eliminate rampant job discrimination against blacks, some agencies of the vast U.S. Public Health Service have taken steps that seem to discriminate against whites.

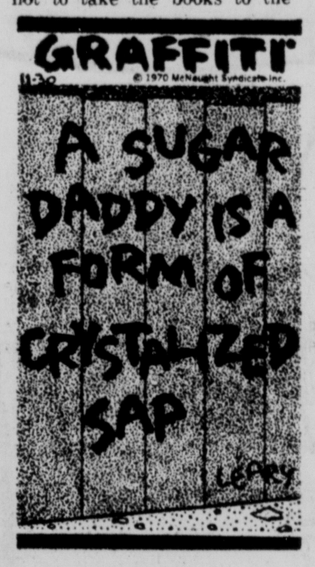

The result is that white employes are now complaining bitterly of job discrimination in the same agencies where similar black complaints touched off a major controversy last summer.

This ironic turn of events was caused by anti-discrimination orders such as the one issued at the National Center for Health Statistics. It sets up an elaborate bureaucratic procedure to give minority employes a chance to be hired or promoted.

The order requires that "all requests for personnel action will be routed to the Deputy Equal Employment Officer for review." If the proposed action involves hiring a white person, the personnel office must certify "that minority candidates will not be available."

If a white is to be selected over a black, the hiring official must "prepare a memorandum of justification." If no minority candidate is considered, the official must "prepare a memorandum . . . indicating the effort to secure minority candidate."

While no one disputes the seriousness of the discrimination problem at the Public Health Service, many white workers charge the new policies will give blacks preferential treatment because hiring whites involves too much red tape.

POWs Must Feel U.S. Cares

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — I have been a prisoner of the enemy in war. Six months solitary confinement in a Japanese prison in World War II.

Perhaps, then, I can suggest in some small way how the American prisoners of war now in North Vietnam feel after the attempt at their rescue.

Thinking back 28 years to my own feelings, I remember two things quite vividly;

The Doolittle raid of April, 1942, and the visit of the Swiss government representative, after I'd spent about five and a half months in solitary. During the war the neutral Swiss represented U.S. interests in Tokyo.

I remember strongly even today because these incidents brought hope to the heart of a prisoner who, through no one's fault, had had no sign from his government and his country during the months of imprisonment.

It did not matter that the Doolittle raiders had not come to free us prisoners but were over Tokyo for an entirely different purpose. You could look out the barred window and see American fliers were there. For hours afterward you could relive this flight by watching the rising smoke and by listening to the excited conversations of the guards. You could feel and and in a way that it was being done — and in a way you could feel that it was being done for you. You were part of it.

When the Swiss came, I cried. I cried because I said to myself, "My country cares!" I said it over again and over again in happy agonizing gulps. In the months of holding in during daily questioning by teams of guards and of sitting, eating, sleeping in my cell, I had not realized how alone I had come to feel myself.

The freedom in my soul and in my voice was not the thought of rescue or release (pleasant as that would be) that mattered so much as the thought that my country cared enough for me — for us, that the Swiss should come to see each of us individually even for a few minutes and should be attempting, whether successfully or not, to do something for us.

I still remember the room in which my Swiss visitor and I sat. I remember the expression on his face and the way his lips moved when he talked.

He asked me a few questions and we talked a little, the normal things men say to each other. He did not promise anything. It was then not yet clear whether negotiations for an exchange of prisoners would be successful. But I walked back down that prison hall with my heart singing as loudly, as strongly, as powerfully and as triumphantly as a gigantic choir in a cathedral — as if heaven had opened wide.

I was a man and an American and nothing could defeat my soul.

I never saw my Swiss friend again. But he will remain my friend until the day I die.

It is hope that men require when they are prisoners of war. And a belief that their country cares. And their wives and children.

With these a man can endure all things. Sickness, loneliness, beatings, death.

Dog Situation

Editor, The Freeman,

I read the letter by Mr. Roux in last week's paper about the dog situation in Kingston, which indicated his complete lack of information as well as his complete lack of the qualities belonging to a gentleman. Needless to say, I was delighted to read Mrs. Katherine Stoutenberg's reply which so very effectively put Mr. Roux in his place.

I would like to tell Mr. Roux that "that woman", as he referred to Mrs. Stoutenberg, is a courageous, gallant lady who is doing a job that no one wants, with little help and little appreciation. I personally think that Mr. Roux should do a little investigating and then let his conscience be his guide—which could only result in an apology to Mrs. Stoutenberg.

Would that we had more like her!

Claims Facts-Distorted

Editor, The Freeman

Your reporter, Hugh Reynolds, evidently does not know the rules of reporting—a good reporter writes the news not give his personal opinion.

Mr. Reynolds apparently slept through the C. of C. meeting. There is little else to explain his wholly inaccurate and misleading interpretation of Mr. Burtis' statements. He stated that Mr. Burtis discussed the general environment. True, he did, but only to lead up to the dangers of fluoridation. He pointed out numerous facts and figures. He was anything but vague.

Judging from the tremendous applause, his audience learned much from Mr. Burtis, a gifted and dynamic speaker.

I have no idea why Mr. Reynolds distorted the facts, unless he permitted his personal bias to interfere with ethical reporting.

Keep Heroin in France

Editor, The Freeman

Your young people together with thousands of others are dying from the use of heroin.

There are no words to describe what I'd like to say. We have to spend millions to find cures for all kinds of illnesses sometimes in vain, however, we know the cure for this cancerous disease. We need not spend millions in rehabilitation. Why not begin by keeping heroin in France instead of it being available on every corner?

This not only kills children but parents as well. I hope every parent reads this, fighting along with me to keep this poison out of this country. Your child has a very good chance of becoming an addict. I would like to see real action, wouldn't you?

Otherwise, each parent will have a rightful case of negligence against his state or government for the horrible dealth of their children. And for the swine who make all the money, I hope it touches them.

Detention Facility

Editor, The Freeman

Recent serious alleged criminal actions by juveniles have pointed out the desperate need for a Juvenile Detention Facility. The nearest such facility is located in Westchester County and is currently filled to overcapacity. Concern has been expressed by various local officials and by Judge John R. Heilman of the Dutchess County Family Court.

I would like to propose that a suitable facility be purchased or constructed to serve the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Orange, Columbia and Putnam. Each county would bear an equal portion of the initial cost of obtaining a suitable structure and provide continuing financial support proportionately. I realize that such an undertaking is not as simple as this, but I feel that the basic idea is sound. The economic impact would be apportioned equally among the various counties supplemented by whatever Federal or State funds might be available.

The necessity for such a detention facility is growing. The need is obvious. The time of reaction on behalf of concerned citizens is now.

Asks Public Apology

Editor, The Freeman:

I would like to add my concern to that of a multitude of others over the blasphemous cartoon in the recent issue of the New Paltz State College paper. There is absolutely no decent reason for such a publication for it was of the very lowest of the low. To my mind, anyone connected with such outrageous publications, be they college professors or students, their motive is evil and strictly out of order in this American Society. Such a misuse of the freedom of the press should be punishable by dismissal from the college at once. It irks me to think that the tax dollars of many decent citizens and Christians are used to support such low minded people. I add my voice to others who ask for a public apology from the School Administration, for this rank affair demands just that—AND NOW. May God have mercy on such anti-Christ people guilty of this outrageous act. I thank God for all who have publicly protested this matter, in the press and over the air waves.

Respectfully,

Registers Protest

Editor, The Freeman

The Saugerties Area Council of Churches has sent the following letter to Mr. H. Cavanagh, Editor, Oracle, in care of Dr. John Neumaier: New Paltz College:

After seeing the cartoon appearing in your recent edition of ORACLE, as president of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches I feel compelled to register a strong protest. It was in extremely poor taste and very offensive.

If you feel there has been too much of an outcry against your cartoon, keep in mind that beliefs are still vitally cherished. Attack a person's belief and you attack the person himself. Right now, many Christians are angry and upset; it will soon give way to sadness — sadness because we will never understand why there are those who turn away and reject the love of God as it has been revealed to us in Jesus Christ.

Mr. Cavanagh, never underestimate the power of conviction. You have deeply offended us. The least you can do, if you have any compassion at all is to give us a public apology.

Respectfully yours,

'Sing Out Kingston'

Editor, The Freeman

I would like to say a word of praise for the many teenagers who are clean, straightforward and ambitious. Too often our headlines publicize only the bomb throwing, riot makers who defy anything and anybody from parents, teachers, the "cop on the block" and even our President. They are the ones who get the headlines.

So may I take this space to compliment that group of young people who directed, rehearsed and gave their own version of "Up With People". These ambitious teen-agers rented the High School auditorium for two nights, and drew a fairly large crowd. They bought their own amplifying equipment and though they had no adult direction they presented "Sing Out Kingston", their adaptation of "Up With People."

The grouping, the lighting, their choice of songs and their fine diction, surprised us. There was interpretive dancing and a fine instrumental group. I'll admit we attended with reservations but were agreeably surprised.

Do you suppose if we stopped bringing the dissenters into the limelight so often and put the spotlight on the students who appreciate the opportunities our country has for them, just maybe it might help and we wouldn't have to worry so much about what our country will be like when it is their turn to govern?

I was disappointed not to find any coverage of "Sing Out Kingston" in the Freeman. I felt it deserved better treatment.

Sincerely,

Real Christmas Spirit

Editor, The Freeman,

I assume there are some people who think Christmas is too commercialized and the decorations go up too early: Now if these same people lived in war-torn Vietnam or 'flooded' Pakistan would they still utter the same thoughts? I doubt it. We must remain on guard gainst false holiday spirit.

May I quote from a wonderful article I read on "Don't Knock Christmas?" It's time we tried to tell the world what's right about Jesus' birthday instead of scraping up what's wrong with it. God knew what he was doing when he gave this marvelous day to us. He also knew some men would distort it, abuse it, pick it apart or try to abolish it. But He also knew that some would celebrate it with the music of peace and joy and love for their fellow man.

If the month of December becomes a rat race for you — don't blame Christmas. God intended his Son's birth to bring glad tidings of great joy to all people because a Savior has come who is Christ the Lord.

Yes, we must remain on guard against false holiday spirit and the ever present mercenaries. But let's not drop the choice silverware into the garbage disposal. So few things remain that give richness and true meaning to life.

So let's hang our wreath, decorate our tree, set up our creche, wrap our presents, etc. And let's do it with hearts that are sincere and loving in the spirit of worship. Let us tell everyone about Jesus so that the real spirit of Christmas will be able to do some good.

Whatever happens, don't knock Christmas. Here's hoping all of you readers latch on to the true meaning of Christmas and may you all have the happiest one ever. Remember, also, his words, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." This means every day of the year.

Sincerely,

Oracle 42 Cartoons

Editor, The Freeman

Copies of the following letter were sent to all state, national and local authorities who could possibly exert control over the administration of New Paltz State University by the John A Coleman High School Parents' Association, Inc. Reproductions of the cartoons were attached to the letters:

The last two issues of Oracle 42, a student newspaper affiliated with the State University, New Paltz, included cartoons entitled "The Amazing Adventures of Jesus Christ — Son of God" and "The Eternal Adventures of Jesus Christ." I have enclosed a copy of each cartoon since you would be unable to fully appreciate the sickness they represent unless you personally view them.

The obvious problems that this particular author has can perhaps be treated by medical experts and I pray they are successful in their efforts. However, the more serious problem exhibition in this situation is the apparent lack of control by responsible authority in evaluating that which goes beyond the realm of decency. If this lack of leadership and supervision is non-existent in the publication of the newspaper, in what other ways is it being demonstrated at this tax supported institution?

Included in the November 12th issue were several letters to the editor from students and faculty members expressing their deep shock in the first cartoon. It was gratifying to read such sincere statements from young people defending their religious beliefs. I am sure that they are representative of the vast majority of the student body.

On behalf of all parents and friends of John A. Coleman High School. I plead with you to take whatever action you deem necessary to assure that there is no repetition of these cartoons. Further, I implore you to institute a thorough investigation of this institution and its administration to determine why such an outrageous action could occur.

Very truly yours,

'Reactionary Senator'

Editor, The Freeman

On January 3, the people of New York State will have a new senator in Washington, D.C. to represent them. He is Conservative James Buckley, who is a minority senator.

The people of New York State decided they wanted a change and they got it! The people no longer have two progressive senators: now they have one progressive senator, Jacob Javits, and one reactionary senator, James Buckley.

I don't know exactly why the people voted not to return Charles Goodell to the Senate, but it probably had something to do with the fact that Mr. Goodell failed to support President Nixon on certain issues which the President supported. If we elect a senator to vote for everything the president supports, what is the sense of us having a senator?

Everything Charles Goodell voted on, he voted with the people utmost in mind. He voted even though it might get Richard Nixon or Spiro Agnew down on him. He stood up, and let his voice be heard, even when it was unpopular to do so. But, whatever he did, he did because he thought it was right to do it.

Mr. Goodell and Mr. Ottinger spoke out on the issues. All Mr. Buckley was doing was saying "Isn't it about time we had a senator? or "Join the march for America." Buckley was trying to confuse the American people, and he must have been successful because unless the voters of New York State were confused, they would never have voted for him.

Mr. Buckley is a member of the Conservative party, a party formed in New York State to combat the progressive leadership of Nelson Rockefeller. Until this year, the party had been unsuccessful in their endeavor. I wanted to bring up this fact to all the people who voted for Nelson Rockefeller and for Mr. Buckley.

Let's hope Mr. Buckley's philosophy starts to change. Let's hope Mr. Buckley becomes a progressive senator instead of a regressive one. Charlie Goodell may not have been right on everything, but if James Buckley is half as good as Mr. Goodell, he will be a good senator, because Charles Goodell was like Jacob Javits and Nelson Rockefeller are, great men, progressive men from a progressive state.

Editor, The Freeman:

Vandalism

Vandalism is a billion dollar a year headache for Americans, including a hundred million damage to municipal-business-private property each.

We, the taxpayers, pay out of our pockets through higher prices for goods, services, higher taxes and insurance, and its going up every year. It has become the big item as part of the high cost of living and maintenance for, broken windows, damaged phone booths, public schools and you name it.

Police patrols, electronic devices, and special guards must be procured for warning devices.

In most cities from New York to Los Angeles, vandalism has grown 32 per cent in the last four years by statistical information.

The Insurance Institute of Information at Washington, D.C. has attested the facts in one year has jumped 50 million dollars.

Many destructive acts are never reported to the police as stated by an inspector of the Detroit police department who states:

"Who knows how much vandalism there really is? All we know there is too much of it, and its going to go on until people know that there will be certain punishment if they are caught."

The F.B.I. states 93 per cent of those arrested for vandalism were males — 78 per cent white and 75 per cent age 18 and under. They rarely act alone — the offense begins as a prank and escalates — they goad each one. It seems railroads and subways are the vulnerable targets.

In Philadephia rock throwing at Penn-Central trains knocked out eight thousand train windows last year which cost 250 thousand dollars to replace. Passengers are cut by flying glass. A woman commuter on the Reading Railroad bled to death from a sliver of glass severing her jugular vein.

It has been proven that small business men in high crime areas cannot survive the crises. This includes juke boxes, cigarette machines, and about everything under the sun.

These youngsters should be taught to realize that every dollar we pay for their vandalism is a dollar less for them, and the innocent ones for education.

In Linden, N.J., 1,500 tombstones were overturned, and damage has been known along the same category in our city on a smaller scale.

Another thing we must realize the motivating force behind this vandalism — these teenagers are in revolt against the system — educational and otherwise, and churches as well.

Do I have to remind about incidents as to bomb threats in our own city and county, and the situation at our high school a few weeks ago during a concert?

Certainly we are outraged, and what can we do to stop it?

The best solution to the problem is instant and severe punishment with parents liable to full payment and those old enough to be responsible as well.

Let's face it even if its a bitter pill to swallow, children today are allowed to run over their parents because without rules and discipline, we have no moral values. Are we too preoccupied making money and over doing on material possessions to raise our children properly? In order for discipline to be effective there must be love and understanding follows.

All parents should turn off the television and get to know their children. Help them grow into strong useful citizens by setting good examples and taking time for conversational communication — and forget this idea of permissiveness and that a smacked bottom never hurt any child.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Local Drug problem

Editor, The Freeman

On Thursday, 11-19-70, representatives of the Queens D.A. office gave a free seminar on drug abuse and narcotics addiction. Their observation was that Kingston has a very serious drug problem. An observation that some citizens are aware of any yet one that many are either unaware of or just simply don't care about. I spoke to these representatives before and after the program, and they were rightfully upset over the lack of concern by the citizens. It showed by the size of the audience.

Where were all the parents? Too busy? Too unconcerned and yet the first to scream when they feel the bail is too high. Some adults cared and were there: Judge Hubert Richter cared and he was there. I didn't recognize any one from the clergy there? Too bad, you missed an excellent talk on the subject by Mr. Ronald Berg, Dean of some 1500 students in the big city. There was an equal turnout of teenagers who came for various or obvious reasons. Some to disrupt, some who were earnestly interested in learing something and those who came with the foolish notion that they would suddenly hear an announcement that Marijuana was proven harmless and would soon be legalized.

This was the one weak point of the talk as I personally feel that there has already been sufficient evidence released to prove the harmful effects from the use of Marijuana. As for that Vietnam Vets comments concerning the overall beneficial results from the use of Marijuana by combat troops, I said, and I say again, "Bull." Statements like this only serve to encourage our already misguided teenagers. In case you have forgotten, we also fought an undeclared war in Korea where this Marijuana grew like crabgrass. The few who used it were worthless and were quickly court-martialed. Those who didn't use it went into battle and functioned very well as history has proven.

After the program, I talked to four young men for a half hour who attend schools in the Kingston area. All are past or present users of Marijuana, Hashish and one admitted to having experimented with the hard stuff. They all expressed the usual reasons, lack of communication with their parents, boredom, unhappy home invironment, and the cost of being "in", "accepted" or "with it" as they say. They voiced surprise that some would take the time to talk with them and not down to them. Despite their ignorance in the use of drugs and the problems and expense it has cost their family, some of these young people are intelligent and could if redirected in time, do something more meaningful with their lives.

Parents of Ulster County, do you want to know what's happening in and around Kingston? Our police agencies tried to tell you but perhaps you choose to think they were overreacting. The FREEMAN tried to get the message across with their front page coverage on an almost weekly basis lately. You probably just read it an lined your garbage can thinking this problem will never cast its shadow on my home. "Don't bet on it". Listen now as this statement is coming from the kids who tell it like it is. Quote, "Sir, it's too late. Kingston is just one big garbage pit for drugs and pushers". "Most of us never intended to get involved but believe us, once you step outside your home, there isn't any place bar none, that you can go where the "stuff" isn't any place, bar none, that you can go where the 'stuff' isn't being sold or offered free." If we don't eventually become 'involved', we're outcast in our own town." End of quote. Perhaps a very weak excuse indeed, but they're telling it like it is. Quote, "When I'm home and try to talk, I suddenly realize there is no one listening. Man I can hurt like anyone else so I just hit the streets."

The next time your young ones are talking, will you be listening? And while they're not around the house, will you know or care where they are? Do you know where they are right now while you're reading this? And the next time someone takes the time and effort to bring you a free seminar on such a crucial subject, will you be there? For the sake of your child, I hope by the grace of God you will.

For God and Country,

Nixon's Popuarity Holds Steady in Post-Election Check

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J. — President Nixon's national popularity rating remains virtually unchanged in the first survey conducted since the recent House races in which the President played a partisan and controversial role.

In the latest survey, conducted November 13-16, 57 per cent of all persons interviewed expressed approval of the way Mr. Nixon is handling his job. The previous survey in mid-October showed 58 per cent approving.

One might expect, in the aftermath of a heated campaign, that views on President Nixon's performance would be more sharply polarized along political lines than previously had been the case. However, only marginal shifts have been recorded in the views of Republicans and Democrats reached in the survey.

Nixon the Campaigner

No President has worked so hard to elect congressional candidates as President Nixon did in the recent campaign. His efforts won him acclaim from those who liked his hard-hitting "gloves off" attack on lawlessness and student dissent. But his efforts also brought criticism from those who felt that a President should not play so partisan a role in off-year elections.

Reasons for Disapproval

The belief that President Nixon is "too much of a politician" is one of the criticisms offered by those in the survey who disapprove of his performance in office.

Mentioned much more often by those who express disapproval, however, is the belief that the President is neglecting pressing domestic problems such as inflation and unemployment. Others say the President should be doing more to get U.S. troops out of Vietnam.

'Doing His Best in Tough Job'

Chief reasons given by those who approve of the President's performance are that he is (1) Doing his best in a tough job; (2) trying to get our men out of Vietnam — and has been more successful than President Lyndon Johnson in this respect; (3) taking a cautious and businesslike approach to the nation's problems.

The following question has been asked during the last three decades to measure the popularity of the incumbent President:

Do you approve or disapprove of the way (Nixon) is handling his job as President?

The following table compares the results of the latest post-election survey with those recorded in October:

	Post-Election %	Pre-Election %
Approve	57	58
Disapprove	30	27
No Opinion	13	15

For the survey reported today, a total of 1609 adults were interviewed in person in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation.

Sensitive Measurement

The Gallup Poll's trend measurement of presidential popularity has been used at regular intervals during the administrations of six presidents. It has proved to be a sensitive barometer of public attitudes regarding the president, with wide fluctuations recorded in approval or disapproval.

President Nixon's highest approval rating to date, 68 per cent, was recorded in a survey conducted following his nationwide televised speech in November, 1969, in which he spelled out his program for Vietnamization of the war.

The President's low point, 53 per cent approval, was recorded in March of this year, at the height of the postal strike and following several weeks of growing disapproval over the way the President was dealing with the Vietnam war, as revealed by Gallup surveys during this period.

President Johnson's high point, 80 per cent, was registered soon after he took office in November, 1963, following the death of President Kennedy. His low point, 35 per cent approval, came in August, 1968, when Gallup surveys showed disillusionment over our involvement in Vietnam at a peak.

YMCA Club to Sponsor Ski-Sporting Goods Swap

KINGSTON — The YMCA High School Leaders Club will sponsor a ski and sporting goods swap December 4 and 5. It was announced by club officials that anyone who wishes to sell their old but useable ski or other type of sporting equipment will be welcome to do so at the swap. The swap will be held in the lower gym of the YMCA, which is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

The Leaders Club is a group of volunteer students from Kingston High School who work with the younger members of the YMCA, and act as assistant group and gym leaders throughout the regular program year. The club hopes to use all proceeds from their sale to send a few of the members to Leaders schools at Silver Bay and Sprngfield, Mass.

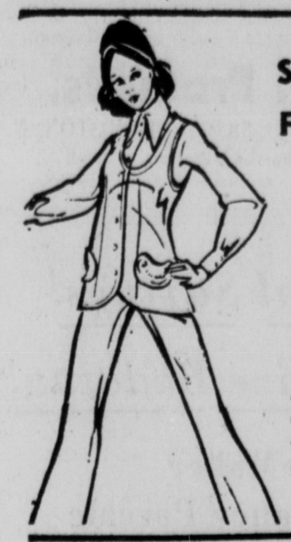

Anyone who has useable equipment they would like sold should bring this equipment to the YMCA before Dec. 4. The owner of the equipment will be asked to sign a contract which includes his selling price and the terms under which his equipment will be sold. He also will at this time receive a receipt, which he will need to present in order to pick up the money or unsold merchandise after the sale. All unsold merchandise or monies must be picked up during the week of December 7 through 12.

Everyone is welcome at the Swap whether they have an item for sale or not. The Swap will be held from 6 to 10 p.m. Friday, Dec. 4 and 10 to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5. All sales will be final, but there should be some really great buys among the ski and other sports equipment, according to Tim Ferraro, Chairman of the Swap, who suggests that no one should miss this chance to pick up a great bargain and maybe get started in a new sport.

Dayan Lists the 'Guidelines' For Negotiations With the Arabs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan says Israel is ready for unconditional peace talks with the Arabs, but it is not going to give up the Golan Heights, the Gaza Strip and command of the Strait of Tiran.

Speaking to a Labor party rally Sunday night, Dayan listed these territorial goals as Israel's "guidelines" for negotiations, along with a demand for an agreement that no Arab army ever cross the Jordan River to advance on Israel.

But these are not preconditions, Dayan asserted, because the Arabs would not "have to sign their agreement . . . in advance. We will sit together and discuss these matters."

All the territory listed by Dayan was captured in the 1967 war, along with the Old City of Jerusalem. Jordanian territory on the west bank of the Jordan River, and the rest of the Sinai peninsula west and northwest of the Strait of Tiran.

Israel's determination to retain the Golan Heights, the Gaza Strip and the western shore of the Tiran Strait, between the Gulf of Aqaba and the Red Sea, has been repeatedly stated. Dayan made no mention of Old Jerusalem, but the Israeli government has said a nuber of times that it would not give that up.

Dayan said Israel wants to negotiate "to examine ways to end the fighting . . . because there is no point in war." He told his party, however, that "if the war is resumed, we will fight."

Israel broke off of indirect negotiations with Egypt and Jordan at the United Nations on Sept. 6, charging that Egyptian movements of antiaircraft missiles toward the Suez Canal had violated the cease-fire which was preliminary to the talks.

Deputy Premier Yigal Allon told another Labor party meeting Sunday that the Israeli government has "moral, political and military justification" to go back to the talks. Otherwise, he said, the world would blame Israel for the failure to achieve peace.

The deputy premier said the Israeli Cabinet would decide in a few days what conditions are necessary before the talks can be resumed. These will involve the Egyptian missile buildup along the Suez canal, he said, but he gave no indication what modification Israel would make in its demand that the missiles be returned to their disposition before the cease-fire. Egypt has said repeatedly it will move no missiles back.

The Israeli government today accused Egypt of building more new antiaircraft missile sites in the 30-mile standstill zone along the canal. It was the 24th Israeli complaint of missile activity since the cease-fire went into effect Aug. 7 and the fourth since renewal of the agreement on Nov. 6.

The Israeli Cabinet on Sunday authorized Dayan to discuss political questions with American officials when he visits the United States next month on a bond-selling visit.

Downtown Blast Touches Off Fire

KINGSTON

An explosion shortly before noon today touched off a 2-alarm fire that swept through the P. J. Gallagher electric motors shop at 17 Spring Street and sent dense smoke sweeping through downtown Kingston.

Joseph Gallagher, one of the owners, suffered multiple deep lacerations of the right hand when he leaped through a window as fire burned close to him. He was treated by a Doctors Ambulance attendant. A firefighter, not identified immediately, was taken from the scene to a hospital suffering smoke inhalation.

Gallagher said five other workers in the building at the time fire erupted fled through doors and windows to safety. Police blocked off the entire area and rerouted traffic. The fire was still out of control at 12:30 p.m.

Area State Trooper Will Attend Program

ALBANY

Sixteen traffic supervisory officers from city, town, county and parkway police agencies and 14 members of the New York State Police have been selected to attend the second session of the State Police Traffic Science Training Program.

Selected from this area was Sgt. Richard J. Dempsey of the Kingston Zone Headquarters at Lake Katrine.

The second session of the program, an intensive 10-week course covering all phases of traffic management, will get underway today at the State Police Academy at Albany, according to Superintendent William E. Kirwan.

The traffic school is an innovation in police training made possible by the opening of the academy facilities last May. It is planned to hold the school four times a year, with all classes including both local and State Police.

The first class of 30 officers was graduated Nov. 20.

Federal funds have been authorized covering all the costs of the training program through next spring and it is planned to submit a request for further funds when the current grant is exhausted. Trainees from distant areas are being housed in the academy dormitories.

In addition to traffic management topics, several academic subjects are being taught by faculty members from the State University.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet (that needs no prescription) Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin®. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

Progress Report Set On Stop-Smoking Plan

KINGSTON

A progress report of all smokers who kicked the habit under the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking will be held at the George Washington School Auditorium Wednesday night, Dec. 2 at 7:30 o'clock. Smokers who have attended the three sessions to kick the habit are invited to attend.

Pastor Dan W. Schiffbauer, of the Kingston Seventh-Day Adventist Church, will give a formula to smokers to aid them in their fight against tobacco should a severe urge be present.

Dr. George Wootan of Kingston will give pointers on weight control and how to keep the calories in check.

The lectures will be followed by films on weight control. There will also be a group therapy session at which time former smokers may compare notes on their progress and receive help on any problem that might have arisen since the last session of the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking.

Pastor Schiffbauer said that these sessions are sponsored as a public service to the community by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. The public is invited to attend.

Board Approves Free Lunches

KINGSTON — A policy to provide free lunches to children whose families come under the New York State Minimum Income scale, has been adopted by the Board of Education of the Kingston School District Consolidated, according to Superintendent of Schools Louis A. Salzmann.

The policy will become effective Jan. 1, 1971.

The Family Income Scale follows: (The first figure is the number of persons in a family unit, the second is the gross annual income of families whose children will be served free meals at school):

1 — $2,100. 2 — $2,850. 3 — $3,550. 4 — $4,250. 5 — $4,900. 6 — $5,550. 7 — $6,150. 8 — $7,300. 9 — $7,850. 10 — $7,850. Each additional members annual income must be less than $500.

Any child whose family income is not above the applicable family size income level may be served a free lunch. Free lunch applications, which may be obtained in any principal's office, must be filled out for each child attending school and returned to the building principal. This may be done at any time during the school year, and the application will be determined immediately upon its receipt.

The parents will be notified if the application is approved, granting the child a free lunch. This will remain in force even if the child transfers to another school within the school system.

A hearing may be required if the application is denied and the parents feel the action is unfair, officials said. This may be done by contacting Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent, 67 Wall Street.

BOCES Sets Workshop

NEW PALTZ — Leon Greenberg, Ulster BOCES Coordinator of Inservice Education announced that the December through January series of inservice education workshops for Ulster County educators has been scheduled.

The activity is offered to staff members from the participating school districts of Ellenville, Highland, New Paltz, Onteora, Rondout Valley, and Wallkill as one of the services provided by the Instructional Resources and Assistance Center which is located in New Paltz.

The December sessions entitled, "Critical Health Problems," have been designed to enable teachers to explore ways that a school district might implement innovative programs in this curriculum area. The initial discussion will focus on family life education. In the follow-up meetings, questions related to drugs and narcotics and other concerns in critical health areas will be viewed.

At times, a seminar format will be utilized in order to work more closely with those participants who might be involved with the implementation of a health program in their schools. Consultants for these workshops are Dr. William Abruzzi, college physician at SUNY New Paltz, Louis Barlow, instructor in family life education at Adelphi College, Dr. Gerald Edwards, professor of health and physical education at Adelphi College, and Albert Bedworth, associate in the Bureau of Health Education at the New York State Education Department. The dates of the meetings are: Dec. 10, 16, and 21. January and February workshops will be announced.

Note 4-H Leader Training Course

KINGSTON — More than 50 members participated in Ulster County's 4-H club officer's training school held recently. Twelve adult leaders attended with the officers at Kingston's George Washington School.

A team of seven instructors taught the young officers in the how's and why's of their jobs. The instructors were: Miss Margaret Gippert (secretaries); Mrs. James Dunbar (presidents and vice presidents); Mrs. Silas Countryman (treasurers); Mrs. Harry Seitz, Miss Nancy Seitz and Daniel Guzewich (news reporters); Miss Lisa Suppies (recreation and song leaders).

The 4-H'ers received one hour of instruction and then assembled together for a final session. This training was thought beneficial since these officers can return to their clubs and give better leadership.

Goldleaf Named Judge For 'Y' Racing Contest

KINGSTON — James Lapak, YMCA program director, announced today that Ron Goldleaf, who is a professional racing driver, will be the official starter and judge for the YMCA Johnny Lightning Contest on January 23.

Goldleaf, aside from being the official for the contest, will present a program on race car driving on December 12. The program will include a racing film, a talk by Goldleaf on his experiences as a race driver, and an explanation of a racing car which he will bring for display to the YMCA on Saturday, Dec. 12.

During his 10-year career Goldleaf has raced against Mario Andretti, Jackie Stewart, Dan Gurney and many other top-notch race drivers. He has driven Lotus, Alfa-Romeo, Ferrari, Lola and McLaren racing cars and is a regular competitor in the Can-Am challenge cup, fastest and richest road racing series in the world. His most recent victory was in the 24 hours at Daytona.

All youth members are welcome to attend Goldleaf's program Dec. 12 which will be held in the morning at 11 for third-graders and older members and at 1 p.m. for the first- and second-grade members. The YMCA is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest. Those wishing further information about the contest or program should call the YMCA.

Ready for Summing Up In Tate Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When the Tate-LaBianca murder trial began in June, the prosecutor said, evidence would show Charles Manson, 36, masterminded "The most bizarre, savage, nightmarish murders in the recorded annals of crime."

Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi was to give his final arguments in the case following legal discussions of the instructions to be given to the jury. Those discussions were expected to last all day today.

The seven-day, five-woman jury may begin deliberating late this week or early next week on whether to find the cult leader and his female followers, Susan Atkins, Leslie Van Houten and Patricia Krenwinkel guilty of the seven Tate and LaBianca slayings.

The defense rested its case Nov. 19 in a surprise move in which it failed to call a single witness and made only routine motions for acquittal.

The next day Manson, outside the presence of the jury, testified that he had "killed no one and ordered no one killed."

However, he declined to repeat the statement before the 12 persons who will decide whether he goes to the gas chamber.

Two Are Killed In Tel Aviv Airport Mishap

TEL AVIV (UPI)—A Trans World Airlines (TWA) cargo jet taking off from Lydda Airport before dawn today collided with an Israeli air force Stratocruiser transport being towed on a runway.

Both planes burst into flames.

Two men believed to be airport workers driving the Stratocruiser's tow-tractor died in the flaming wreckage and two of the Stratocruiser crewmen were seriously injured, an Israeli police spokesman said.

The crew of three aboard the TWA Boeing 707 cargo jet escaped with minor injuries, he said.

Dixieland Band At Red Hook

RED HOOK — An All-Star Dixieland Band will highlight the Red Hook High School's Fall concert Dec. 5.

It is a scheduled for 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

A special composition, "Dixieland Jamboree," will feature the All-Star Band in conjunction with the high school band.

Members of the jazz group include trombonist Gerald Conklin and Robert Spallina. Conklin plays freelance, is associated with the Hyde Park School system, and was formerly with the Matt Jordan jazz group as lead and ride trombonist.

Spallina is a member of the Red Hook music staff, and worked his way through college on the piano. He has played this area for about 18 years, including the opening of the Roosevelt Theater in Hyde Park for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Morey Amsterdam, and Fay Emerson. He is also a composer.

"Not one cent for credit!"

First we protect you against heavy interest and carrying charges. There's never a charge for credit at Standard. It's a service Standard customers are entitled to. When you buy at Standard, you pay only one price . . . the low cash price. If you wish to use a convenient budget plan, it's readily available without a penny extra cost. For example: If you buy $100 (furniture, appliances, floor coverings, etc.), you pay the cash price of $100; or you can pay $10 down and $10 monthly for 9 months with no added finance charge or annual interest percentage. Thus you save 12% . . . 15% . . . 18% interest and carrying charges. (And incidentally we finance our own accounts. No banks or finance companies to deal with. You buy from us, pay to us, deal only with us).

"But do they add it to the prices?"

O.K. There's no charge for credit at Standard but do "they add it to the price?" It's a fair question. And here's the answer: Standard sells at the lowest possible prices because we know that today's consumer is wise, and has many other places to shop; so to win her business we must give her the very best possible values. No matter what you buy . . . whether it's from our budget lines or custom-crafted Stan-Craft lines, you are guaranteed the lowest prices. But don't take our word for it . . . COMPARE . . . Compare Standard prices, compare Standard value . . . THEN JUDGE FOR YOURSELF . . . Fair enough?

How can Standard sell for less? Well, honestly we're no magicians . . . we just work hard at being good merchants. We have a staff of 5 professional buyers who concentrate on the best values in furniture, carpeting, appliances, bedding, draperies . . . each a specialist in his own line. To aid these buyers, we are members of the 3 largest buying syndicates in the country who assist our buying staff in scouting the principal factories of the country. We operate a huge central warehouse for more efficient operations. Further, our buyers cover every major trade show in the home furnishings industry. The Furniture Markets in New York, Chicago, and High Point . . . The Variety Show . . . The National Merchandise Show . . . The Electronic Show to mention a few.

"Suppose something goes wrong?"

For your protection, we operate our own service dept. with a staff of trained specialists. When you buy at Standard, you look to Standard to give you service, no one else .There's no middle man involved. Obviously our goal is to have every item delivered 100% . . . but in the event a difficulty develops, you can depend on Standard to make it good.

"I just like to look!"

Our sales people are experienced in home furnishings . . . and are constantly in training to serve you more effectively. They are the best paid in the area . . . and they know that Standard's success . . . their success . . . depends upon serving you better.

But, forget all this . . . come see for yourself. Come, browse around before you buy anything for your home. We're always glad to have you "just look" . . . There's no sales pressure at Standard.

"What if I'm not satisfied?"

The sale is never complete at Standard until you are perfectly satisfied. "You must be pleased or your money back" has been the keystone of our policy ever since 1901. We're not out to sell you just one time . . . we want you as a steady customer. We're proud that we are now serving the third and fourth generations of some of our customers . . . who through the years have become good friends as well.

"How about delivery?"

Your purchases are delivered without charge in our own trucks by our own drivers. We have a fleet of 13 trucks operating every day to give you better service. Because of increasing business, we have just added 2 trucks. We'd like to deliver your purchase 'the next day' because we know that once you select your home furnishings you want it quickly. We do it as quickly as humanly possible.

"What's all this talk about Consumer Protection?"

IT'S BEEN A WAY OF LIFE AT STANDARD EVER SINCE THE FIENBERG FAMILY STARTED THE BUSINESS WAY BACK IN 1901

Consumer protection is nothing new at Standard. It's the way we live. Maybe that's why our business increases year after year... Why now we're the largest exclusive home furnishings organization in the Northeast.

Our "6 Point Consumer Protection Program" is outlined at the left. We're proud of it; still admitting we're not perfect. But with 150,000 customers "on the books" our margin of error is less than 1%...and we're hard at work even on that.

Santa's Arrival Marks Official Christmas Start

KINGSTON

The Christmas holiday season marked its official opening Friday with the arrival of Santa Claus at the Kingston Shopping Plaza. Santa made his annual pre-holiday excursion to the Ulster County area via helicopter this year explaining that the lack of snow would have made for "rough sledding." He added that he also was giving his eight tiny reindeer" a long rest in preparation for their Christmas Eve activities.

After dispensing gifts and good cheer to an enthralled band of youngsters at the Plaza, the rotund Santa commuted to the uptown shopping district for another meeting with youthful worshippers. In the bottom photo, Santa poses with a throng of admirers on Wall Street.

Santa wasn't the only early bird to get into the Christmas spirit. The Salvation Army will be spreading their own kind of Christmas cheer this year and they're calling on Ulster County residents to give generously so that this Christmas will be one that the less fortunate area residents won't forget.

In the photo, top right, Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig (l) joins with Woolworth Manager Jim Morrissy and Captain James Shotzberger in the opening of the Salvation Army's sidewalk collection booth on Wall Street. Traditional Salvation Army "pots" will be located throughout Kingston for the convenience of citizens with a few extra dimes and dollars to spare.

115 Years of City Service

Miles was promoted to lieutenant on Feb. 8, 1961 and to captain on Jan. 10, 1970. Miles has served as fire inspector and has worked out of all three paid stations. He is a past president of Uniformed Fire Fighters Association Local 461 sponsores of Saturday night's testimonial dinner. Miles retired on July 12, 1970.

Fire Fighter Van Etten was appointed a third grade fire fighter on Feb. 9, 1941. On Sept. 28, 1942, Van Etten entered the Army Medical Corps, returning to the fire department on Dec. 1, 1945.

He has worked out of Central Station as the chief's driver and out of Wiltwyck as driver of both engine two and truck No. 2. He retired as a first grade fire fighter on July 11, 1970.

Fire Fighter Golnek was appointed a third grade fire fighter on April 1, 1941 and worked out of Central Station for many years as a tillerman on Truck No. 1.

Golnek, for the last several years before his retirement worked out of Central Station as a chief's driver. He retired as a first grade fire fighter on July 4, 1970.

William Schwerdtfeger, president of Local 461, was toastmaster for the dinner. Speakers included Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Fire Chief James M. Brett. Ross Ritto, president of the New York State Fire Fighters Association, traveled from Syracuse to be with the local firemen and gave a speech on the increasing danger of crimes against firemen carrying out their sworn duties.

The firemen also honored their attorney, S. James Matthews, presenting him with a plaque and an honorary life membership in their union.

The invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church and one of the department's chaplains.

They Almost Got Somebody's Goat

WALLKILL — Three Orange County youths were arrested early Sunday by Highland State Police in connection with a complaint that someone was attempting to steal a goat from a barn on the Wilber F. Buesing farm on Plains Road in this community.

Arrested by Trooper Frank Krasinski were Kenneth B. Haynes, 17, Bruce W. Bennett, 20 and John J. Maselli, 17, all of Newburgh.

Haynes and Bennett were cited for burglary third degree. Maselli was booked for conspiracy third degree.

Arraigned before New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider, the trio entered pleas of innocent and received adjournments for hearings until a later date. Judge Schneider fixed bail for Haynes and Bennett at $1,000 each, and $500 for Maselli.

Troopers said they received a call from Buesing's wife reporting the incident early yesterday. On arrival at the farm, police said, the trooper found the three youths being detailed by Buesing who held a shotgun.

Police reported that Haynes and Bennett allegedly entered a barn to take the goat and Maselli acted as a lookout in a car down Plains Road some distance from the farm.

Survey Concern – Drugs

KINGSTON — A public opinion survey conducted recently by Kingston Jaycees revealed in preliminary results that the greatest concern is the drug problem.

From the 500 questionnaires returned and studied by the Jaycees, about 15.6 per cent recognized that drug problem existed in high school and junior high scool.

Other areas of great concern were lack of recreational facilities noted by 7.8 per cent and the urban renewal situation cited by 7.7 per cent. Other areas of concern included traffic problems, pollution control and lack of new industry.

The fluoridation issue brought a 160 yes to 111 no, response with the 21 to 35 group largely in favor of fluoridation.

The local Jaycees conducted the community survey by distributing questionnaires from booths stationed at Sears Roebuck, Britts and Caldors. Other Jaycees conducted a door-to-door survey in the Kingston area. Survey Chairman Dennis Jordan said more detailed results will be announced.

Approximately 156 young girls in the Mid-Hudson Valley have been introduced to society since 1956 and 42 of them were from Ulster County. Their presentations were made at the annual Mid-Hudson Cotillion in Poughkeepsie.

This year, on Monday, Dec. 28, the Students' Building at Vassar College will come alive with the splendor of another Mid-Hudson Cotillion and 11 young ladies of 18 years of age will make their official bow. Four of the young debutantes are from Ulster County. They are Suzy Kristina Forst Gade, Margaret Ann Grover, Shelley Nan Matthews and Stephanie Lynn Vogel.

The Mid-Hudson Cotillion is an outgrowth of the former Bachelor's Cotillion held during pre-war years in Poughkeepsie. The war years eliminated the event along with other social events and it wasn't until post-war days that renewed interest helped develop the former gala into the current popular Mid-Hudson Cotillion.

The 11 girls will be presented at the Cotillion by Baltus Barentszen Van Kleeck. The Cotillion is scheduled for 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. and the presentations will be made at 10:30. Music for the occasion will be provided by the Charles Lee Orchestra of Kingston.

Suzy Kristina Forst Gade, a student at Connecticut College, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Gade of 74 Fair Street, Kingston. A graduate of the Emma Willard School, she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Forst of Kingston and Bomoseem, Vt., and Mrs. Samuel Gade of Saugerties and Miami, Fla. She is the granddaughter also of the late Samuel Gade.

Margaret Ann Grover, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Milton M. Grover Jr. of 48 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, is a graduate of Stoneleigh-Burnham School and attends Ithaca College. Her grandparents are the late Dr. and Mrs. Milton M. Grover of Poughkeepsie; Mrs. J. Rodney Peelor of Poughkeepsie; and the late Rodney Peelor.

Shelley Nan Matthews, a Skidmore College student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. James Matthews of 1 Grandview Avenue, Kingston. A graduate of Kingston High School, she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Matthews of Pompano Beach, Fla., Alva Shelley of Kingston and the late Mrs. Shelley.

Stephanie Lynn Vogel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Peter Vogel of 184 Albany Avenue, Kingston, is a Wells College student. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick James K. Ertel of Kingston and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Vogel of Kingston.

Also bowing to society at the Mid-Hudson Cotillion are:

Elizabeth Craven Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steele C. Cameron of Poughkeepsie;

Martha Patricia Vlassopoulos-Demson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Vlassopoulos-Demson of Red Hook and New York City;

Lindsay Jo Fried, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Fried of Aberdeen Farm, Staatsburg, N. Y.;

Sara O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris O'Brien of Geneva, Switzerland, whose grandfather, C. H. O'Brien, resides in Poughkeepsie;

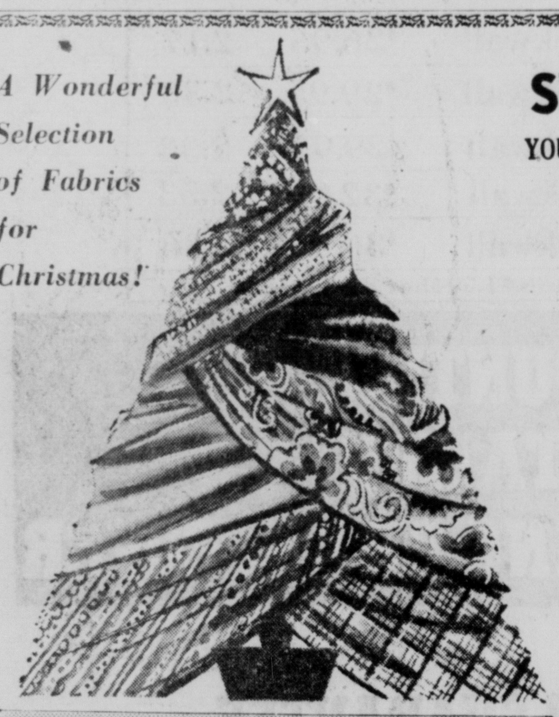

Mary Virginia Southworth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Chauncey Robert Southworth of Salt Point, N. Y.;

Candace Triller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman Triller of Poughkeepsie;

Ann Peelor Van DeWater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Van DeWater of Poughkeepsie.

All the girls will be enjoying a special round of Holiday parties and programs held in conjunction with the Cotillion.

Saugerties Jayncees

Mrs. Harold Hommel and Mrs. Charles Lounsbury were guests of the Saugerties Jayncees at their recent membership meeting.

Mrs. Richard Shemenske, chairman of the Mental Health and Mental Retardation committee, gave an informative report on the Good Grooming Clinic held at the high school each week. The Christmas Party at Mrs. Burdick's Home for Retarded Women is scheduled for Dec. 17. The party will follow the workshop which is held each month. These visits have been successful in that they stimulate interest among the girls and occupy a bit of their time.

A Thanksgiving Food Basket has been made up by the Jayncee members to be distributed to a needy family in the Saugerties area. The Jayncees donate such a basket at Thanksgiving and Easter.

Santa Claus is patiently waiting to hear from all area girls and boys. The mail box is set up outside of F. P. Clum Inc., Saugerties, and children are urged to mail letters early as Santa needs time to do his Christmas shopping.

The Dec. 15 meeting will follow dinner at 6:30 p.m. at Mrs. Robert Saturn's home in Saugerties. The Jayncees invite all Jaycee wives and others interested in Jayncees to contact Mrs. John Lawrence, Saugerties, membership chairman.

MRS. CHARLES J. SPADER
(Lakeside Studio)

She carried a cascade of white carnations and white pompons tied with white satin ribbon.

P-TA in Glasco Reorganized; Meeting Scheduled Tonight

As a result of meetings held during the summer by parents of students of Glasco School, a steering committee was formed to reorganize a Glasco Parent - Teacher Association. Raymond Cadmus was chairman of the steering committee.

The first meeting of the Glasco P-TA was held on Sept. 28 and chaired by Cadmus. This meeting was attended by approximately 300 parents and teachers of students in the Glasco School. Mrs. Velma Wright, president of the Saugerties Central School Parents-Teachers Association, addressed the audience and explained the means toward an active P-TA organization. Questions were answered and many of the audience volunteered to be members of committees to make the Glasco P-TA an active, interesting and hardworking organization.

During the following weeks, the steering committee worked on a possible slate of officers and at the second meeting, held in conjunction with the Glasco Open House during National Education Week, there were two names placed in nomination for each office with the exception of the office of second vice president, which had three candidates. Approximately 250 members of the Glasco P-TA voted and elected Norman Gadzinski, first vice president and presiding officer; Michael Piatek, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Smith, secretary; and Mrs. Donald Babbitt, treasurer.

Under the leadership of these four officers, committees were formed. Harold Neff, program chairman, is working with members to plan programs for the remaining year. The meeting planned for December will coincide with the holiday season and everyone interested will be able to participate. Details about the December meeting will be explained at the November meeting. Other committees are chaired by Mrs. Vincent Positano, refreshments; Mrs. Raymond Cadmus, membership; co-chairmen, Mrs. Evelyn Francello and Mrs. Norman Gadzinski, hospitality; and Mrs. C. Richard English, publicity.

This evening's program will be held at 7:30 and will open with a few selections by the Concert Band of the Glasco Elementary School, directed by William Hain, instrumental music teacher. Following the business meeting, Neff, program chairman, will present the teachers scheduled to speak.

Mrs. Terrie Rosenblum will discuss art in the grade school; Ronald Kunst, coach, will point out the role of physical education in the development of children; and David Nascimbeni and William Hain will describe how both vocal and instrumental music is important to today's students. Mrs. Anita Milikofsky, fifth grade teacher, and Miss Virginia Palumbo, fourth grade teacher, will discuss the correlation of Social Studies and Art. Refreshments will be served after the program.

The parents of the Glasco School students turned out in large numbers at the two previous meetings and it is hoped that they will continue to support their school - connected organization.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Osterhoudt of Accord celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open house at their home on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14. The party was planned by their children.

Professor Tarkenton; Master of Third Down

A RARE ERROR — New York Quarterback Fran Tarkenton (10) recovers his won fumble as Washington's John Hoffman (85) looms over his shoulder in the first period Sunday. Coming in to assist is Redskin Chris Hanburger (55). Tarkenton scrambled out of Hoffman's reach and tossed the ball to T. Frederickson who went four yards for a first down. The Giants won, 27-24. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Pay attention, now. Professor Francis Asbury Tarkenton is giving lessons on how to win football games.

"You've got to play third down football," says Tarkenton, the New York Giants' game-wrecking quarterback. "If you don't make your third downs, you might as well go home."

Believe it.

Tarkenton made good on five straight third down plays during three touchdown drives and the Giants scrambled to a 27-24 victory over Washington Sunday that kept their title hopes alive in the National Football League.

The Scrambler's giant effort kept the pressure on St. Louis, which has a 1½-game lead in the National Conference's frantic Eastern Conference race with New York and Dallas.

The Cardinals, with bomb-throwing Jim Hart pulling the trigger, spanked the Philadelphia Eagles 23-14 to give them an 8-2-1 record. The Giants and Cowboys are both 7-4.

Los Angeles' revitalized Rams sandblasted San Francisco 30-13 and pulled into a tie with the 49ers for first in the NC's Western Diversion race; Baltimore cemented its hold on the American Conference Eastern battle with a 21-20 success over Chicago and Kansas City tied Oakland for the AC West with a 26-14 pasting of San Diego.

The AC Central Division was thrown into a three-team tieup with the day's results. Pittsburgh clouted Cleveland 27-9 and Cincinnati knocked off New Orleans 26-6 and now the Steelers, Browns and Bengals are tied for first with 5-6 records.

The New York Jets rained on a planned Minnesota champagne party Sunday with an upset 20-10 victory that delayed the Vikings' clinching the NC Central Division.

Boston bounced Buffalo 14-10 and Houston whipped Denver 31-21 in Sunday's other games.

Tarkenton, a hard man to pin down, hypoed new life into the Giants, who were stunned last week by Philadelphia.

On an early third down play, The Scram fumbled the snap from center, but grabbed the ball off the ground and shoveled an underhand toss to fullback Tucker Frederickson for a four-yard gain that kept the touchdown drive alive.

Later, in another third down situation, Tark wheeled and dealt under the fire of a fast-closing Redskin line. He ducked, squirmed and twitched away from the enemy, then sailed a pass to the five-yard line that set up a TD on the next play.

In the three scoring drives, Fran hit 1 3of 14 passes.

Hart led the Cards back from a 7-6 Philadelphia halftime lead, tossing two touchdown strikes within 38 seconds of the third period. The scores helped St. Louis withstand a late Norm Snead aerial attack.

Los Angeles rammed defense down San Francisco's collective throats in its comeback from a 13-6 halftime deficit. The contest gave the Rams and 49ers identifical 7-3-1 records.

John Unitas rallied Baltimore after throwing three interceptions that gave Chicago a 17-0 lead. His 54-yard TD pass to John Mackey with 3:47 left was the clincher. It gave Baltimore, 8-2-1, a two-game lead over Miami 6-4.

Kansas City used Len Dawson's two touchdown passes and Jan Stenerud's four field goals to beat San Diego and post a 6-3-2 mark, same as Oakland's.

Terry Hanratty and Terry Bradshaw fired three touchdown tosses between them for Pittsburgh and Cincinnati's defense set up three Horst Muhlmann field goals.

Boston capitalized on two pass interference calls and scored touchdowns, breaking a nine-game losing streak and Charley Johnson hooked up with Jerry Levias on two TD passes for Houston.

Kingston Tyros Drop Fishkill

St. Mary's of Kingston Tyros roared to their fifth straight victory of the season as they inaugurated their new gym with a 44-28 win over St. Mary's Fishkill. Ted VanDyke led the winners with 14 points while Rich Terpening had 13.

Lou DeCicco contributed eight, Don Timbrouck six, and Paul Runge had three for the winners. Dave Murtenson finished with 10 of the Fishkill five's 28 markers.

The Kingston Small Fry were beaten by the visitors, 40-10.

The line score:

Fishkill	5	3	13	7—28
Kingston	16	8	8	12—44

Injured Jets Beat Vikes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coach Weeb Ewbank thinks his New York Jets would be a championship club if it were not for the rash of injuries that have hit the team this season, and he will get no argument from the Minnesota Vikings.

For the second time in three weeks the Jets Sunday upset one of the National Football Conference's "powers" by trimming the Vikings, leaders of the NFC's Central Division, 20-10, and it left many people wondering how the Jets would have done this season had they not been crippled by injuries.

"There's no question we're a championship team, except for the injuries," said the elated Ewbank, whose team three weeks ago upended the Los Angeles Rams at Los Angeles. "Our defense was hurt early in the year and then our offense went. Our defense has been holding us in there recently, but if we didn't have depth we wouldn't be winning like we have."

The Jets, who have won three in a row after a string of six successive losses, have gotten superb performances from their bench, especially from quarterback Al Woodall and running back George Nock. Woodall, filling in for Joe Namath who has been lost for the season with a broken right wrist, played his fourth fine game in a row Sunday as he hit on eight of 12 passes for 106 yards and one touchdown.

Nock, playing at fullback in place of the injured Matt Snell, had his finest game as a professional against the Vikings as he carried 32 times for 117 yards and scored one touchdown. Nock, who saw very little action in the early part of the season, now has scored six touchdowns in the last five games.

The experience that the subs have gotten this year hopefully will pay big dividends next season, and center John Schmitt credits Ewbank with the success the team is presently enjoying.

"Weeb stuck with us all year," said Schmitt. "He told us he wouldn't bring anybody in. He told us we were all one big happy family and he didn't want any outsiders. If this were any other team in football and all the things that happened to us this season happened to them, it would disintegrate. But our guys hung together. That's the kind of team we've got. We stayed together and we beat some of the best teams in pro football. Minnesota has the best record in pro football and we beat them. If a new season started Dec. 21 we'd be in great shape."

The Vikings' loss was only their second in 11 games and prevented them from clinching first place in the central division. What beat them was an aggressive Jets' defense, which limited them to only 51 yards rushing, and New York's ability to control the ball on offense for the first three quarters.

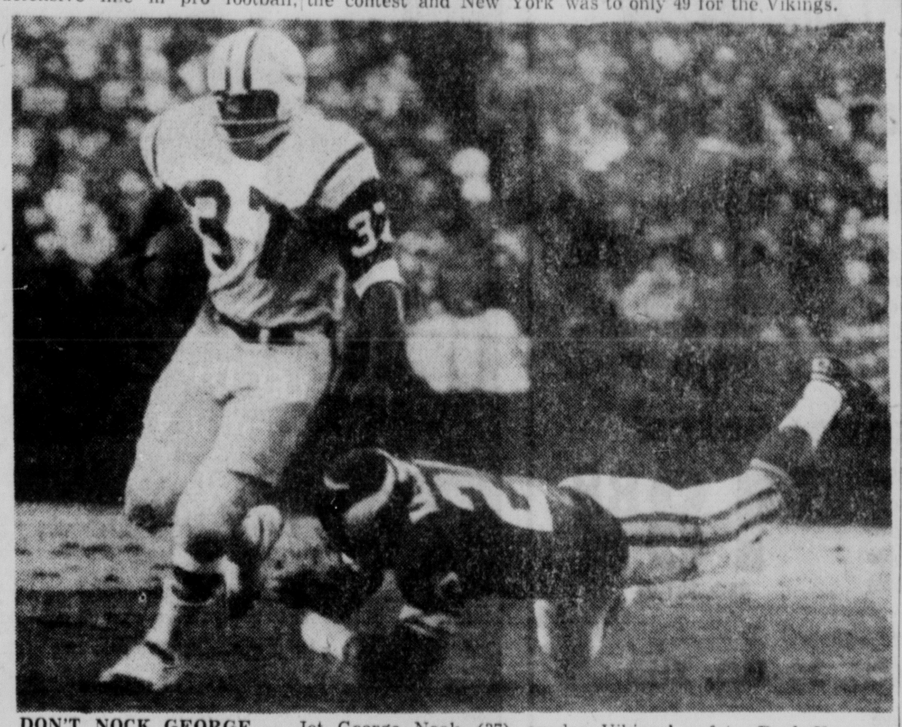

The Jets got a big break when the Vikings' starting quarterback, Gary Cuozzo, suffered a sprained ankle in the first quarter and left the game, and New York took advantage of that by harassing inexperienced reserve quarterback Bob Lee into just nine completions in 24 attempts and four interceptions. Free safety W. K. Hicks picked off two of Lee's tosses and said that the young quarterback was telegraphing his passes throughout the game.

"The quarterback was giving me keys all day. He was looking one way on every play. He didn't have much finesse. I was surprised he was that ineffective," said Hicks.

Lee, a third-year man who had thrown only eight passes this season prior to Sunday's game, shouldered the blame for the loss but came out of the game with high praise for the Jets' defense.

"Our defense played well enough to win, but our offense let down and I'll take much of the blame for that," said Lee. "If I had gotten some more completions and put the ball in there a little better we could have won. But the Jets are a fine defensive team, and they have a fine pass rush. They seem to be a little quicker than the other teams we've played."

The defensive line was outstanding, but the offensive line was almost as good. Playing against the most feared defensive line in pro football, the Jets' offensive line opened huge holes throughout most of the contest and New York was able to gain 187 yards on the ground while running 67 plays to only 49 for the Vikings.

DON'T NOCK GEORGE — Jet George Nock (37) evades Vikings' safety Paul Krause and breaks loose for a first down in third quarter action in Shea Stadium, Sunday. Nock enjoyed the best game of his professional career as he riddled Minnesota's famed defensive line for 117 yards in 32 carries, including a 15-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. Jets upset Vikings 20-10. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Lightning Strikes For Southern Cal.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you're one of those people who think lightning never strikes twice in the same place, take a close look at the Los Angeles Colisum one of these days.

Lightning in the form of the Southern California football team exploded fourth-ranked Notre Dame's perfect season 38-28 Saturday, exactly six years to the day after the 1964 Trojans turned back Ara Parseghian's first Notre Dame squad, which also had a 9-0 record.

"This one game was our whole season," moaned defensive back Ralph Stepaniak.

"Nine games don't mean a thing if you miss that last one."

The Trojans, with a mediocre 5-4-1 record going in and coming off a 45-20 shellacking at the hands of UCLA, jumped in front 21-7 in the first period on two short runs by Clarence Davis and Sam Dickerson's remarkable catch of Jimmy Jones' 45-yard pass.

They sewed it up early in the third period when offensive tackle Pete Adams recovered a USC fumble in the end zone and 42 seconds later defensive John Vella fell on a Joe Theismann bobble in the rain and mud.

That made it 38-14 and negated a late comeback as Theismann completed 33 of 58 passes for 526 yards-28 short of the NCAA record-and two touchdowns. He scored Notre Dame's other two TDs.

"It doesn't make any difference if you lose by one or 50 points," said Parseghian. "And the only way you can be comfortable is to have a 40-point lead. I expected it to be only a moderate scoring game. They just had their day. Everything went right for them. Pride is a great motivating force. How much cance would have you given USC after its performance against UCLA last week?"

Notre Dame, the country's seventh best rushing team, was held to 31 yards on the ground. The Irish get their chance for revenge in the Cotton Bowl against the Texas-Arkansas winner. If Arkansas beats Texas, the Cotton Bowl won't have the nation's No. 1 team . . . and wouldn't that be a revolting development in Dallas?

Two more bowl berths were filled over the weekend, leaving the Orange Bowl with the only open spot . . . and even that is taken on a conditional basis.

Louisiana State, ranked sixth in the Associated Press rankings, downed Tulane 26-14 and the losers promptly took a bid to play Colorado in the Liberty Bowl. Despite the setback, Tuiane finished its regular season with a 7-4 mark and its first bowl bid since 1940.

LSU, meanwhile, got one of the two victories it needs to nail down the remaining Orange Bowl opening against Nebraska. Another win over Mississippi this weekend will do it.

Elsewhere, 16th-ranked Georgia Tech whipped Georgia 17-7 and cost the Bulldogs a shot at the Peach Bowl, which was quickly filled by North Carolina. Ironically, UNC is coached by Bill Dooley, younger brother of Georgia's Vince.

Sugar Bowl-bound Tennessee, rated seventh, breezed past Vanderbilt 24-6 and No. 11 Auburn, down 17-0 in the first period, rallied on the passing of Pat Sullivan to nip Alabama 33-28 in a battle of bowl teams.

In the traditional service classic, Navy used Bob Elflein's 49-yard run, Mike McNallen's two-point conversion pass to Karl Schwelm and Roger Lanning's 33-yard field goal to turn back Army 11-7. The game drew 95,151, the first sub-100,000 crowd in the 32-year history of the series in Philadelphia.

Two outgoing Southwest Conference coaches left with victories. Rice beat Baylor 33-28 for Bo Hagan and Texas Christian defeated Southern Methodist 26-17 for Fred Taylor.

Elsewhere, Oklahoma buried Oklahoma State 66-6, Iowa State upset San Diego State 28-22, Miami, Fla. stunned Florida 14-13, Boston College completed Holy Cross' winless season 54-0, Memphis State upended Cincinnati 1-10 and Louisville struggled past Wichita State 34-24.

25 years of hard labor for $1780.*

This year, everybody's introducing a new "Volkswagen-sized" economy car.

So not to be outdone, we've done the same.

Except, of course, we didn't have to start from scratch.

For years, while everybody else has been jumping from model to model and worrying about looks, we've stuck with our original and improved the way it works.

And so today, while ours may not look like the newest economy car, it's the most developed.

It's the only one with a sealed steel bottom. To protect its insides against just about everything outside.

The only one with an air-cooled magnesium-alloy engine. To eliminate boiling over and freezing up.

And the only one with a free electronic diagnostic system. To spot problems early and actually help extend its life.

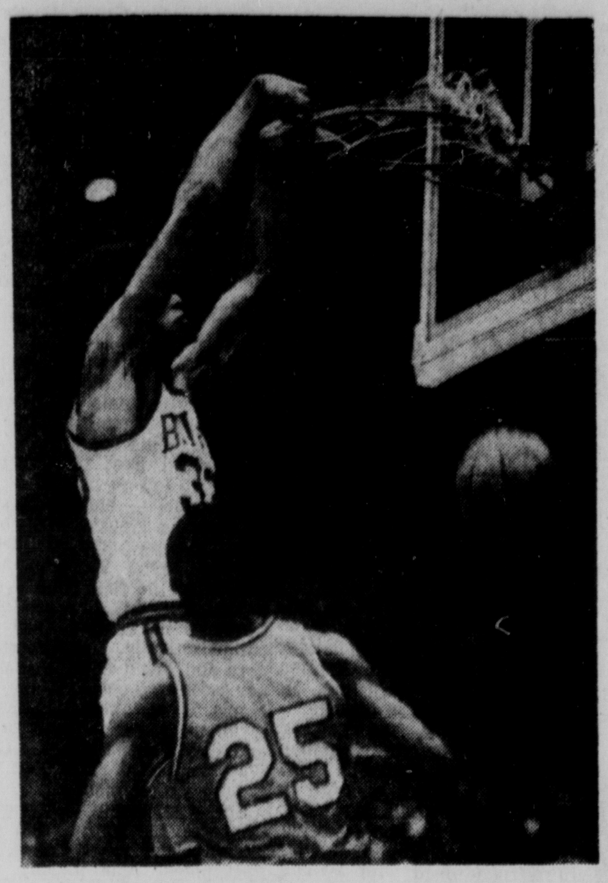

Best of all, even with all this, our new economy car costs only $1780.

So compared to all the others, even if it doesn't look the newest, maybe now it looks the best.

Milwaukee Five Bounces Back to Buck Portland

POLITE TO DUNK — Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor (33) makes sure of two points for the Bucks Sunday night against Portland as he dunks the ball in the second quarter while Trailblazer LeRoy Ellis (25) could only watch. Bucks won 124-111. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It wasn't entirely a lost weekend for the Milwaukee Bucks.

The National Basketball Association club, coming off Friday and Saturday night losses to the defending champion New York Knicks, regained its form Sunday night by pummeling the expansion Portland Trailblazers 124-111.

In other NBA action Los Angeles crushed San Diego 130-112, Seattle destroyed Atlanta 130-107 and Detroit smacked hapless Cleveland 120-99.

In American Basketball Association play Pittsburgh walloped the Floridians 123-109, New York shelled Texas 129-113, Indiana crushed Denver 130-107 and Memphis overwhelmed Utah 114-92.

It takes four quarters to make a buck—but Milwaukee looked like small change in the closing quarter of its games against the Knicks, taking big leaders into the final periods only to squander them away and lose not only the games but a shot at surpassing New York's NBA record of 18 successive victories. The Bucks had won 16 straight.

The Bucks had no such problems with Portland, holding an eight-point halftime margin then building on it as Lew Alcindor hit 24 of his game-high 33 points in the second half. Rookie Geoff Petrie topped the Trailblazers with 27.

Jerry West of Los Angeles netted 41 points and added 16 assists while Wilt Chamberlain was hauling in 31 rebounds as the Lakers pulled away from San Diego in the second half after leading only 52-51 at the intermission. Don Adams scored 28 for the Rockets.

Lenny Wilkins canned 41 for Seattle as the SuperSonics extended Atlanta's losing skein to four games with their third straight victory over the Hawks. Pete Maravich topped the losers with 23 points.

Cleveland absorbed its 11th successive setback and 26th in 27 games as Dave Bing of Detroit hit 27 points and set a Pistons assist record with 1,933. Walt Wesley was the top Cavaliers point man with 23.

Orr Recovers to Pace Bruins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Bobby Orr is good he is very, very good and when he is bad—well, that's unusual.

He made one of his rare mistakes Sunday night—then reverted to form to set up the goal that gave his Boston Bruins a 4-2 National Hockey League victory over Toronto.

In other NHL action New York shelled Pittsburgh 6-2, Philadelphia ripped Vancouver 4-2, California edged Buffalo 2-1, Detroit belted Montreal 5-3 and Chicago smacked Los Angeles 5-3.

"I was trying to shoot the puck out—but it rolled off the end of my stick," said Orr, recalling the play which enabled Toronto to take a brief 2-1 lead in the first period.

He lost the puck behind his own net and the Maple Leafs pounced on it with rookie Darryle Sittler slamming it into the Boston goal. "If there had been a hole out there in the ice I'd have crawled into it," Orr smiled.

The Bruins knotted the score in the second period, setting up Orr's redeeming play in the final session. As Boston was killing a penalty, he steamed up ice, eluded two Toronto defenders and slipped the puck to Ed Westfal who broke the tie.

Orr climaxed his comeback with six seconds remaining in the game as he fired a goal into the empty Toronto net after the Leafs pulled goalie Bruce Gamble for a sixth skater in an attempt to salvage a tie.

New York remained two points behind the first-place Bruins in the East Division as six players shook the cords to extend the Rangers' unbeaten home ice streak to 11.

Andre Lacroix, scoreless in 15 games, exploded with a three-goal hat trick for Philadelphia. He also assisted on Jean-Guy Gendron's wrap-up goal for the Flyers.

Ernie Hicke's tally with less than five minutes to play snapped California's six-game losing skein. Dennis Hextall also connected for the Golden Seals while Cliff Schmautz was the only scorer for Buffalo.

Alex Delvecchio collected his ninth and 10th goals of the year for Detroit and Frank Mahovlich notched his 399th career goal as the Red Wings raced to a 4-1 second-period lead against Montreal.

Chicago's unbeaten home ice string reached 12 as Pit Martin touched off a four-goal first-period explosion for the Black Hawks, who widened their West Division lead to four points over idle St. Louis.

Elgin Must Have Surgery

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Elgin Baylor's illustrious National Basketball Association career could be at an end.

The man many regard as the best forward to ever play the pro game will undergo surgery Wednesday to repair a torn achilles tendon, the Los Angeles Lakers announced Sunday night.

"I still want to play," Baylor said.

Dr. Frank Jobe, who will perform the surgery at Centinela Hospital here, said he was optimistic.

But Baylor's age and the seriousness of the injury would seem to rule out the 36-year-old superstar coming back. His right leg will be in a cast for two months and he will need 30 more days of rehabilitation before he can play. The season ends in March.

Baylor, the second oldest player in the league, tore the bottom part of the tendon in the Lakers' first game of the season at Chicago Oct. 16. He tore the top part against Phoenix in a home game Friday night.

In his only two games this season, he played 57 minutes and scored 20 points.

The No. 2 NBA all-time scorer with 23,023 points behind teammate Wilt Chamberlain starting the season, Baylor is in his 13th pro year.

Texas Squad Gains Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Saturday night was "beautiful," said Bill Blakely. He wasn't saying much on Sunday night.

Blakey took over as coach of the Texas Chapparrals Saturday night and the American Basketball Association team steamrolled Kentucky 142-119 in his debut to snap the Colonels' eight-game winning streak.

But 24 hours later in New York, Blakely's boys reverted to form, losing their 16th game in 24 outings by a 129-113 score to the Nets to remain in the Western Division cellar.

In other ABA action Sunday night Indiana stomped Denver 130-107, Pittsburgh belted the Floridians and Memphis mangled Utah 114-92.

In the National Basketball Association Detroit stopped Cleveland 120-99, Milwaukee mauled Portland 124-111, Los Angeles crushed San Diego 130-112 and Seattle bombed Atlanta 130-107.

New York took the lead in the opening minute of play against the Chaps and slowly pulled away as Levern Tart pumped in 39 points for the Nets, who moved into a third-place East Division tie with the Floridians. Ron Boone topped Texas with 24 points.

The Floridians could only get 15 points from Mack Calivn, the league's top scorer, while the No. 2 man, Pittsburgh's John Brisker, paced the Condors with 25. Scoring honors went to Larry Jones of the Floridians with 31.

Seven Indiana players hit double figures with Bob Netolicky and Warren Armstrong leading the way with 21 apiece. Julius Keye had the same amount for Denver but the Pacers ran away with the early leader.

Steve Jones scored 26 for Memphis but 18 of them came in the first period as the Pros pulled ahead of Utah to stay. Tom Workman led the Stars with 17.

Kickers Down Bavarian Team

MORGAN HILL

A rough and tumble soccer game at Oehler's Stadium Sunday resulted in a win for the Kingston Sport Club and the possible suspension of one of its top players.

The kickers scored with less than a minute remaining in the match to defeat the Bavarian Sport Club of New York City, 2-1. Jimmy Reinhard tallied the winning marker after receiving the ball from Olaf Weber. The play was set up by a corner kick.

A mix-up in front of the Kingston net and enabled the Bavarians to take the lead in the first half. Visitor Stanley Zandwydas took advantage of it and beat goalie Joe Tomson.

Kingston tied the score just prior to halftime when right winger Kenny Neslund headed in a pass from Klaus Weber.

Things didn't turn out that well for Weber by the end of the contest. After getting involved in a trade of shoves with a teammate and several Bavarians, the referee reprimanded the former Kingston coach who then walked off the field leaving his mates one man shy.

When Weber could not be persuaded back a team spokesman said that talented player might be suspended.

The win upped Kingston's record to 3-4-1. Among those who were extra sharp for the locals were defensemen Richie Bush and Olaf Weber. Fernaddo Nesmyth started the game at halfback then moved to his regular fullback spot and performed well.

One injury was reported, that to the ankle of Karl Van Berkolu.

Hartwick Booters To Face St. Louis

ONEONTA

Hartwick College has been sitting in the shadow of St. Louis University all season, but the Al Miller coached team finally gets the chance to prove who's best when the nation's top two college soccer teams meet Thursday in the NCAA semi-finals.

The confrontation was arranged when Hartwick edged Harvard, 4-3, Saturday to win the NCAA Eastern Regionals, something that had eluded the Oneonta school for the past two years.

Hartwick survived a valient Crimson rally to win the contest. The winners flew off to a 3-0 lead at halftime on two Alex Papadakis goals and one by Brendan Keenan.

Harvard came back to within one when Peter Bogovich and Charlie Thomas hit the nets, but Tony Elia's shot from the penalty area in the final quarter gave Hartwick the insurance it needed.

Solomon Gomez added Harvard's third goal.

Hartwick, number two in the country, now gets to meet number one St. Louis, the midwest champ at Edwardsville, Ill. The winner enters the NCAA finals.

Ulster Senators Defeat Post Quintet

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON — Leading by a bare point, 29-28, in the first half, Ulster Community College's basketball Senators pierced Post Junior College's zone defense with fast breaks in the second half for an impressive 84-62 victory Saturday night at the Kate Walton field house.

It was the first win of the season for Coach Mike Perry's UCCC squad which dropped its Mid-Hudson Conference opener to Westchester last Tuesday.

Hitting only 26 per cent (12 for 47) in the first half, Ulster rallied from a 7-0 deficit in the early going to forge ahead, 29-28.

Cliff Weeks and Roger Govantes were missing from the starting lineup, but eventually got the nod from Coach Perry and were two of the big reasons why UCCC shook off a lethargic first half to rack up the Nutmegers going away.

Weeks collected 20 of his game high 27 points and Govantes 10 of his 15 for more than half of Ulster's 55-34 margin after the recess. Captain Glenn Berry scored 14 points but his greatest contributions were a slick performance off the defensive boards and the fine guarding job he did on Ed Matthews, who was limited to 14 points.

Coach Perry led off with a starting lineup of Berry, Rod Wilkinson, Gary McDonald, George Civile and Pat Harder, the 6-5 freshman from Coleman High of Kingston. Harder had a few rough moments but overall his debut would have to be rated creditable. He scored eight points and contained Duncan Green, Post's 6-7 center, who picked up his fourth foul with 6:22 left to play in the first half.

Three quick baskets off fast breaks and a couple of free throws by Weeks in the last five minutes broke the game open and may have forged a winning spirit for UCCC for the remainder of the season.

Post lost Jim Welch on fouls with 6:30 left to play and UCCC leading 60-54. Civile cashed in both ends of a 1-and-1 and Weeks hit another deuce and Lucas made it 66-58.

Ulster found itself in the next two minutes. Three fast breaking plays and pair of singletons by Weeks accounted for eight straight points for a 74-58 lead and forced Post to call time with 3:15 left to play.

The spurt — built on a steal by Berry, a Weeks bucket off a fine Civile pass and Wilkinson's driving layup — galvanized UCCC for the first time in two games. The players came to the bench for the respite, chattering enthusiastically, slapping shoulders and living it up in a manner associated only with winning teams. It was their first chance to break loose in two games and they made the most of it. What happened after that was strictly anticlimactic.

Berry finished with 16 points, Govantes 15, Harder and Wilkinson eight each. Lucas, the Post player able to stay with UCCC's man to man defense in the second half, scored 14 points after the recess to lead Post with 20. Matthews added 14 and Welch 11.

Ulster (1-1) plays its next game Friday against powerful Mercer of New Jersey in the opening round of the Nassau Invitational at Garden City.

LOVE THAT CUP — The Montreal Alouttes returned home to a fantastic welcome by an estimated 10,000 fans at the Montreal International Airport, Sunday, after winning the Grey Cup in Toronto, Saturday, defeating the Calgary Stampeders 23-10. Montreal Wins Cup

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Alouettes, the undisputed champions of the Canadian Football League, returned home Sunday proudly bearing the Grey Cup as proof of their supremacy.

Led by Mayor Jean Drapeau, thousands of loudly cheering Montrealers turned out to give a heroes welcome to the team that returned the trophy to Montreal after a 21-year absence.

Hundreds of fans were unable to join in the welcoming celebration. The two-lane main artery leading to the airport terminal was jammed with cars lined bumper-to-bumper three across.

An Air Canada DC8 carried the Alouettes from Toronto, where they defeated the Calgary Stampeders, 23-10, Saturday in the Grey Cup Classic.

Montreal Coach Sam Etcheverry, quarterback Sonny Wade and veteran defense halfback Larry Fairholm were the first of the Alouettes to leave the plane.

As they stepped onto the red-carpeted stairs, the trio lifted the 61-year-old, $48 Grey Cup Trophy high above their heads, drawing wild cheers from the waiting fans.

Carrying the coveted cup on their shoulders, the three led the rest of the players down the red carpet into the terminal, where they were joined by the Montreal Alouettes' band and majorettes.

In the airport parking lot, where the Alouettes players rejoined their families, hundreds more fans waited in the chilly, low-30 degree weather.

Many fans stood on car roofs, hoping to catch a glimpse of the Montreal team before they left the airport.

The scene is expected to be repeated today, when the Montreal Alouettes parade through the city. The Larks will leave their home stadium at 11:45 a.m. and parade through the downtown area to City Hall where they will sign the Golden Book.

Goalby Takes Classic

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Bob Goalby won but — for the third time in as many years—the attention centered elsewhere.

The stocky, steady veteran won the 1968 Masters when Roberto de Vicenzo was disqualified from a tie for first for signing an incorrect scorecard, and de Vicenzo got the attention.

Goalby won the 1969 Robinson Open, the same weekend that Lee Trevino blew a five stroke lead and Billy Casper won the rich Alcan.

Trevino-Casper-Alcan got the attention.

And Sunday the grey-eyed 39-year-old Goalby won the $100,000 Heritage Golf Classic, only to have the spotlight stolen by 20-year-old Lanny Wadkins, who became the first amateur in six years to finish as high as second in a professional event.

Goalby, a 14-year veteran, saved the pride of the touring pros when he fired a final round 66, five under par on the double tough Harbour Town golf links, and finished with a 72 hole total of 280 for his 10th tour victory.

Wadkins, a 20-year-old Wake Forest student and the current national amateur champion, was alone in second at 284, matching par on the oceanside layout. He had a final round 68 and was in contention for the top spot until he took a double bogey six on the 11th ole.

From then on., it was all Goalby. But it was the first time since Jim Grant took second in the 1964 Hartford Open that an amateur had finished so high in a regular tour event.

And there seemed to be little doubt that Wadkins, who is attending school on a scholarship furnished by Arnold Palmer, will, eventually, turn pro. He has a year to go in school.

Steve Melnyk, the hulking, 23-year-old former amateur champ from Jacksonville, Fla., also was in contention until he ran afoul on the backside, shooting a 40 to 77. He finished at 290.

Bert Yancey, who shared the third round lead with Melnyk, had even more trouble, shooting an 80 for 293.

Palmer, the defending champion, never really got it going and took a 71 for 286 and a tie for third with Bob Murphy and Billy Maxwell. Murphy had a 70 and Maxwell a 71. Phil Rodgers and Jack Lewis tied at 287.

Jack Nicklaus was never in contention. He was well back with a 73 for 291 and called it quits for the year.

"Only the players know what a great course this is," Goalby said. "And winning on a course like this, well, it gives you a mental . . . a feeling . . . I don't know what it is, but it's nice."

"I've been working pretty hard on my game for the last few months," said Goalby, who finished second in the last regular tour event, the Sahara Open. "It looks like it has paid off."

Smith Nips Art Ashe

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., won the cheers Sunday but two other Americans won the big money in the $35,200 Stockholm Open indoor tennis championships.

Smith, playing the best indoor tennis of his life throughout the event, overcame top-seeded Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., in the final, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, after an exciting two hour duel.

Smith earned $8,000 for the victory and reached the fifth place in the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF) Grand Prix competition which meant additional $10,500 for him.

But Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Ashe gained more than that. Richey through his semifinal place here scored the first Grand Prix prize of $25,000 and got another $2,000 for his play in this tournament while Ashe could leave Sweden for Switzerland and a ski vacation with $21,000 in his pocket from Grand Prix and the Stockholm events.

But Smith was the winner and was praised for his great performance by experts and his opponents.

"Smith will be one of the world's top players." Aussie Ken Rosewall said after losing to Smith in the semifinals Saturday.

Smith, who will celebrate his 24th birthday in a couple of weeks, downed Ashe thanks to his brilliant service.

"My serves have gone well here and I have only lost three of my own service games during the tournament. Ashe didn't serve as well and I think it was the main reason to why I finally managed to win," Smith added.

Ashe, however, paired with Smith, won the tournament's last match beating Australians Bob Carmichael and Owen Davidson, 6-0, 5-7, 7-5, in the doubles final.

KICKING A BIRDIE — Veteran Bob Goalby scores a birdie on the ninth hole to give him a two-stroke lead in play at Hilton Head, South Carolina, Sunday. Goalby went on to pick up his second victory since winning the Masters more than 2½ years ago by posting a 280 to win the $100,000 Heritage Golf Classic by four strokes. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Bruins Ranked No. 1 In Pre-Season Poll

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The No. 1 national ranking given his UCLA Bruins in college basketball is logical says Coach John Wooden who quickly adds:

"Being evaluated on the top is nice, but only playing keeps them there."

The Associated Press' preseason poll Sunday of broadcasters and sports writers nationwide made the Bruins, seeking an unprecedented fifth straight NCAA championship, the overwhelming choice in the new season that opens Tuesday.

"With four returning starters from our NCAA championship squad of last year, it is logical we should be picked again. A number of other teams, however, are exceptionally strong but most years the vote will go to the defending champions," Wooden says.

"I'm very pleased with our squad but there is no way actually of evaluating the comparative strengths of teams before games have been played."

UCLA opens its season Friday night here against Baylor.

Twenty-two of 28 first-place votes and a total of 540 points went to the Bruins.

South Carolina is second with three votes for first and 374 points.

Is Wooden concerned that such acclaim might make his team overconfident?

"I don't think so," he said. "Subconsciously, they might think they're the best but being forewarned is being forearmed and I do everything in my power to forewarn them."

Sidney Wicks, a 6-foot-8 forward, leads returning Bruins from last year's team. UCLA has lost only four of its last 120 games and has won 2 straight NCAA playoff contests.

Rounding out the Top Ten behind second-ranked South Carolina are Kentucky, Jacksonville, Notre Dame, Marquette, Southern California, Villanova, Western Kentucky and Drake.

One first-place vote each went to Kentucky, Marquette and Villanova.

Rounding out the Top Twenty, in order, were Pennsylvania, Utah State, Duke, Kansas, New Mexico State, Indiana, Houston, Long Beach State, North Carolina State, and St. Bonaventure.

The top 20 with first place votes in parentheses and total points on the basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.:

The tournament record two 300 games Sunday. Barry Asher of Costa Masa, Calif., in 10th place going into the finals rolled a perfect set in the afternoon session.

The 16 finalists will play one match game against each opponent in their attempts to win the $6,000 first prize.

Player Draft Starts Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If Harry Dalton has his way, the rich will get richer this week during baseball's winter meetings.

"We probably will make at least one deal, and we might make two or three," the front office chief of the world champion Baltimore Orioles said Sunday as officials of the 24 major league clubs and their minor league affiliates continued checking in for the annual conclave, which began with this morning's draft session.

It is possible that Frank Robinson will figure in the Orioles' trading scheme although Dalton denies the 35-year-old slugger is on the block.

"I've said right along that Frank has been a tremendous asset to our ball club and we aren't interested in trading him," Dalton said. "But if anybody got really serious about a major deal that would benefit us greatly, it's conceivable that we would trade Frank."

The talent-laden Orioles are looking for another front line pitcher to supplement their Big Three—Dave McNally, Mike Cuellar and Jim Palmer. They are nine-deep in top-caliber outfielders, giving Dalton a strong suit from which to deal.

California's Andy Messersmith, whose name was linked with Frank Robinson's in persisting trade rumors last season, apparently is no longer available—if he ever was.

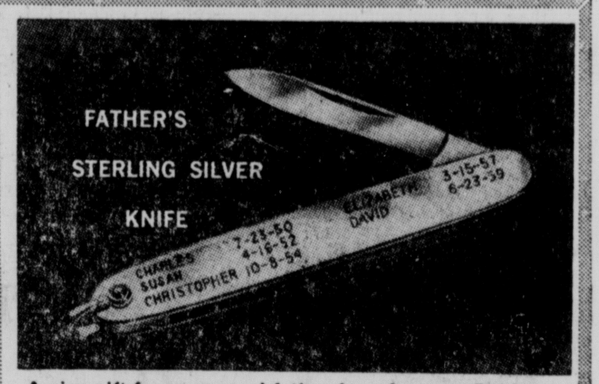

Messersmith, a gifted young curveball artist, was slowed by rib and shoulder injuries during the 1970 campaign and won only 10 games for the Angels, working out of the bullpen in the last two months. But Angeles' General Manager Dick Walsh assured the right-hander recently that he will not be traded.

Prying loose a starting pitcher from any club won't be easy during the week-long meetings. Starters are at premium in both leagues.

Dalton, however, foresees a general upswing in swapping after a general lull that followed the big Denny McLain, Richie Allen, Curt Flood and Tony Conigliaro deals consummated or set in motion during the World Series.

"We've been trying to make a deal since the start of the inter-league trading period," Dalton said. "We've talked to just about everybody, but it's been difficult to get together on anything—more so than a year ago.

"But I think things will start happening now. Everybody likes to wait until they get here. Something will pop before the week is over."

Huguenots' Squad Has Eleven Veterans

By IRA FUSFELD
NEW PALTZ

Coach Frank Davis should learn this year if going with a young team and sacrificing ball games for the future pays dividends. His New Paltz High School basketball squad is coming off of a 4-14 season but most of that aggregation is back, a year older suppesedly, a year better.

"We're looking forward to a good season," Davis said this morning. He points out that his team has depth and experience and that combination should turn around the rather dismal mark of a year ago.

If Davis' roster sounds familiar it's because it contains no less than eight members of the Huguenot football team and that adds to his argument about the advantages of experience for the pigskin team turned a poor 1969 mark into a winning one in 1970.

New Paltz, which opens the season at Ellenville Tuesday night, features John Palonis at center. At 6'2½", the senior is not the real big man but he's a rough one who's not afraid to hit the boards. Another pivotman is 6'2" senior Mike Fairweather.

The forewards are junior Jay Ackert, senior Harold Anderson, senior Brad Hart, junior Bruce Keeping, and junior Mike Snider. Filling up the backcourt are senior Ed Grainger, senior Bob Kraus, junior Rick Pesavento, and junior George Clark.

All of these men are returnees from either varsity or JV play. Davis has added one more to complete his roster, senior Charles Wellington.

The Hugie mentor figures the competition in the UCAL will be as tough as usual and singled out Onteora, Highland, and Marlboro as teams to beat.

New Paltz was a sleeper in football. The cagers will be trying to catch the opposition asleep.

Simpson Lost For Season

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Bills of the National Football League said today that running back O.J. Simpson will be lost for the rest of the season because of torn tissue in his left knee.

Simpson was hurt in the game against Cincinnati here on Nov. 8 and has not played in the last three games.

A team spokesman said the exact nature of the injury wasn't determined until swelling left the injured knee.

He described the injury as a slight tear in tissue behind the left knee and said "the tear should heal itself in four to six weeks."

"O.J. should be 100 per cent okay next year," the spokesman said.

The Bills have only three games remaining on their regular 1970 schedule.

The team said Simpson was given permission to return to his California home for the rest of the season.

He is to return to Buffalo in January for further examination by the team physician, Dr. Joseph Godfrey.

Scholastic Hoop Season Ready to Open

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON — Six key non-league contests kickoff the 1970-71 basketball season for Ulster County area High Schools Tuesday night. The scholastic slate begins around Dec. 1st and runs to about Feb. 26th with the best quintets in the area going on to post-season tournaments.

Tomorrow night's games include: Margaretville at Onteora; Highland at Germantown; Saugerties at Rondout; New Paltz at Ellenville; Our Lady of Lourdes at Kingston; Red Hook at Marlboro.

Wednesday night: John Jay at Kingston; (College Game-New Paltz State at Oneonta).

Friday: Marlboro at Onteora; Highland at Wallkill; Saugerties at Beacon; Pine Bush at New Paltz; Ellenville at Coleman; Pawling at Red Hook; Rhinebeck at Pine Plains; (College-UCCC at Nassau CC Invitational — New Paltz State at Cathedral).

Newburgh On Top

Of course, the top high school team in the Mid-Hudson Valley, if you go by the ratings, and everybody does will be the Goldbacks of Newburgh. Newburgh finished the 1969-70 season by winning the DUSO League and Section A A-B, defeating everyone that got in the way with the exception of Linton High.

Linton was rated Number One last year and NFA appears to be ready to step into that slot.

Wade Pittman, Larry Frazier, Jim Rogers, George Bucci and Ralph Petrillo form that devastating quartet. Mickey Burkowski remains at the helm as head coach. The starting five have played together for at least four years; from junior high school to this, their senior season. They are all potent offensive weapons and their defense has to be seen to be believed.

After the second game of the seasonal series with Kingston, Burkowski stated: "Kingston is one of the toughest schools we have faced all year, with the exception of Linton," or words to that effect.

That statement could have been the tongue-in-cheeker of the year, especially since the Maroons did no better than anyone else did against the Goldbacks, give or take a few points. However, Burkowski is a sincere guy and one has to take him at his word. Maybe.

The Maroons, with head coach Mike Rienzo moving into his second season at the helm, will be tougher than they were least year and KHS fans are slightly optimistic.

The reasons for this possible resurgence are many. And, they all count, at least on paper.

Returning to the fold for the Maroons are a host of experienced ball players led by Chuck Jackson, Bruce Gerbarg, Vino Platts and Pete Boyd; a fine crop of junior varsity ball players including: Ron Burris, Jim Ferraro, John Thomason and Dennis Harrison; and, two transfer students, Herman Simon and Tony Adams.

KHS - Lourdes

The KHS-Lourdes contest will be a tough test for the locals as the Warriors have nearly a complete veteran outfit back; including: Marty McCann, Rich Galetta and Tim Murphy. Fiery coach Vince Dutkowski will be looking for his boys to capture their first Dutchess County Scholastic League crown ala the Warriors' 1970 football team.

The Rondout-Saugerties game will answer a lot of questions for Gander Coach Chick Meehan and Sawyer mentor Jerry Hawkins. Both men are pleasantly optimistic about their teams' chances in their respective leagues. Rondout is the defending champions of the Ulster County Athletic League and Saugerties has been a perennial also-ran in the Central Section of the DCSL.

The Ganders are without the services of Pete Koola and Larry Baney, two young men who contributed greatly to their teams' success over the past three seasons. However, Meehan has a fine group of experienced ball players back including George Wallack, Bruce Burr and Hyler Van Wagenen.

Rondout does have the services of a transfer student, Bill Joyner, regarded by many as the man who may make area fans forget "The Pistol."

Hawkins figures that his team can post the first winning season in many-a-moon for the Sawyers. And, Ray Bean, Rich Koegel, Jerry Malgieri and the rest will try to make his fondest wishes come true.

The Saugerties quintet have had their hopes buoyed by some outstanding play in pre-season scrimmages with area clubs and feel that they can be in any game they will play, all the way.

Although league games won't get underway until Friday, most observers of the UCAL scene seem to feel that the Ganders could do it again. However, strong pressure will come again from Highland, with Perry and Ron Monroe and Bob Mattice; New Paltz, with a veteran squad headed by Big John Palonis and Jay Ackert; and another well-balanced club from Onteora.

In the DUSO, it looks like Newburgh all the way; a pretty safe statement to say the least. Dover Plains, Millbrook and Pine Plains will be right on top in the Dutchess Bi-Valley league; Lourdes, John Jay and Poughkeepsie will fight it out for DCSL honors with Roosevelt rating as better than an outside chance.

Coleman Ready

Of the independants, John A. Coleman looks tough, although they are in the throes of a rebuilding year. Don Hastings, one of the best outside shooters in the County will pace the Statesmen. He will receive help from John Geuss and a group of fine JVs.

All in all, some of the best basketball in the State will be played in the Mid-Hudson Valley this season. And, competition for top honors should be rougher than it has been in several years.

Most Junior Varsity contests will get underway between 6:30 and 7 p.m., with Varsity tilts following around 8 p.m.

Can-Am Star Scores Win

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Oscar Kovaleski, the clown of the Canadian American series, captured the A-sports championship on the final day of the American Road Race of Champions Sunday after a thrilling stretch duel with defending champion Jerry Hansen.

Kovaleski, of Clark's Summit, Pa., roared ahead in his McLaren 8B on the last lap and edged across one-tenth of a second ahead of Hansen's Lola.

It was the second defeat of the day for Hansen. He was vying with Kurt Reinold in the formula A championship race for two-thirds of the way until both blew tires and Dave Heinz of Tampa, Fla., came on to win.

Eight half-hour races over the 2.5 mile road Atlanta course concluded the national championship event for the sports car club of America. An estimated 25,000 persons watched the two days of racing—largest crowd ever to witness the American Road Race of Champions.

Milt Minter of Santa Susana, Calif., won the B-sports racing title.

John Greenwood of Pontiac, Mich., won the A-production title, bringing his Corvette in seven seconds ahead of a Corvette driven by Gerald Thompson of Clawson, Mich. Allan Barker of Jeffersonville, Ind., captured the B-production for the second straight year in an older Corvette Stingray.

John Morton of Torrance, Calif., fending off challenges by Bob Tullius and Bob Sharp, drove his Datsun to victory in the C-production race.

The Super Vee Championship went to Tom Davey of Tenafly, N. J. who brought his Zeitler in 1.2 seconds ahead of Harry Ingle, winner of the formula vee title Saturday. In the same race, Skip Barber of Carlisle, Pa., won the formula Ford Championship in a Tecno.

Roy Woods of Northridge, Calif., won A-sedan in a Camaro over John Tremblay of Orlando, Fla., in another Camaro. Nels Miller of Los Angeles took the B-sedan title in a BMW.

In another thriller, Jim Fitzgerald of Clemmons, N.C., raced his Datsun past Carl Swanson's Triumph GT6 in the final bend, rubbing the sides of the cars together, and winning D-production by a fifth of a second as Swanson's wheel flew off at the finish line.

Dan Carmichael, the 52-year-old C-sports racing champion from Columbus, Ohio, retained his crown with a 5.7 second victory in a lotus 23B over the Alrfa of Ron Evans. Marvin Thompson of Okemos, Mich., took the D-sports racing title in a Bobsy-Imp.

PENNSLVANIA FATAL — Workmen look down on twisted wreckage from eastbound ramp of Ft. Pitt Bridge where a tractor-trailer crashed when it failed to make curve on Sunday. The huge truck catapulted over the river below and landed on a car traveling west killing one of its passengers, Rudy Cincala, 44, of Natrona Heights, near Pittsburgh, Pa. The driver of the truck is in serious condition and three other persons who were traveling in the car are listed in fair condition. This was the 26th fatality on Pennsylvania highways during the Thanksgiving weekend. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Holiday Toll On Roads 600

By United Press International

The Thanksgiving highway death toll hit 600 today as counting continued of those who lost their lives in the 102-hour period ending at midnight Sunday.

The toll was lower than preholiday estimates and a National Safety Council spokesman said the 1970 Thanksgiving holiday could be the safest on record.

Early Safety Council estimates were that between 670 and 770 persons would die in traffic accidents between 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and midnight Sunday night. In 1968, 764 persons died during that time period. Last year 696 were killed.

A United Press International count at 3 a.m. EST showed 600 persons had died in highway accidents.

A breakdown of accidental deaths:

Traffic	600
Fires	48
Planes	61
Miscellaneous	69
Total	778

California reported a record 94 highway fatalities. Ohio had 33, New York 31 and Illinois and Pennsylvania each reported 26.

The worst traffic accident of the holiday period was a multivehicle crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in which 10 persons died and 11 were injured. Eight of the dead were from the same family.

AMA May Reverse Standing Ban On Doctors Accepting U.S. Aid

BOSTON (AP) — Policymakers of the American Medical Association begin today consideration of a proposal to reverse a long-standing AMA ban against doctors accepting federal financial assistance in the practice of medicine.

The proposal came Sunday from the president of the AMA, Dr. Walter C. Bornemeier, at the opening of the organization's 24th clinical convention.

The Chicago surgeon urged acceptance of federal help in providing inducements for doctors to establish private practice groups in the nation's ghettos—so as to give the poor access to medical care "on the same basis as the most affluent citizens."

Up to now, the AMA has okayed acceptance of federal funding assistance only for medical schools.

It has traditionally been opposed to physicians seeking and accepting any such aid to help them in connection with any medical-practice project.

Bornemeier put it this way in his presidential report to the AMA's House of Delegates:

"As the concept of charity medicine gradually disappears because of the growth of comprehensive insurance plans, we should consider inducements to doctors to establish private practice groups in the ghettos."

He said consideration should be given to acceptance of low-cost federal loans or federal grants "in areas where banks may be reluctant to loan money, in order to encourage groups to establish locations in the low-income areas."

Bornemeier told a news conference later that it costs more for a doctor to carry on a practice among the poor than among middle-income and affluent patients because of such problems as "inducing a woman who is three or four months pregnant" to seek medical attention.

Bornemeier's recommendation was one of nearly 100 reports and resolutions offered for the consideration of some 250 policy-making delegates during the next three days.

Bitter debate was forecast on a resolution introduced by the New Jersey delegation urging that the AMA reaffirm its comparatively restrictive policy on abortions as enunciated in 1967. In the eyes of many doctors, this policy was superseded by the House of Delegates last June in an action widely interpreted as meaning the AMA makes abortion subject only to a decision between the woman and her doctor—thus reversing the 1967 dictum which opposed abortion except for therapeutic reasons and in certain circumstances.

The New Jersey delegation contends the June action did not constitute any such reversal—and it wants the AMA to say so.

Other resolutions call for:

—Restoration of cyclamates—artificial sweetening agents—as prescription drugs. These substances were recently ordered withdrawn from the market by the federal government which contended they might constitute a health hazard.

—The federal government "to cease all support, direct and indirect, to the tobacco industry" and ban all advertising of tobacco products.

The Final Figures Given On 1970 Election Day

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Here are the final figures on the 1970 election:

Returns from congressional races show the Democrats had a net gain of 10 House members, a net loss of two senators and a net increase of 18 presidential candidates.

In the gubernatorial balloting, the Democrats picked up nine other new presidential candidates, making a total of 27 for the election as a whole.

Everybody Gained

When added to the list of holdover presidential candidates 11 in the Senate, four in the House and three gubernatorial, this gives the Democratic party a grand total of 45 contenders for the 1972 presidential nomination.

Looking at the Republican congressional and gubernatorial figures, however, we find that the GOP had a net gain of only four presidential prospects.

I asked Dr. Hereford L. Goodskate, director of the Presidential Timber Analysis Institute, how he accounted for the larger Democratic gain in an election that was otherwise fairly even.

An Ideological Victory

"Traditionally," he explained, "the party that is out of power increases its roster of presidential candidates in an off-year election. Therefore, a Democratic gain was not unexpected.

"On the other hand, the party that controls the White House ordinarily loses presidential prospects in the off-year. Consequently, even the small Republican increase must be viewed as a notable gain."

I said, "Would you describe it as an ideological victory?"

"Something of that sort," Dr. Goodskate replied.

I said, "Why is the list of presidential candidates always so much larger at mid-term than in the year when the President actually is being elected?"

Cost of Candidacy

"It's mainly a matter of economics," Dr. Goodskate said. "Being a presidential candidate in an off-year doesn't cost anything. And with campaign expenses what they are these days, any kind of free political action naturally attracts a crowd.

"Later on, presidential candidates will be expected to open campaign headquarters and start buying TV time. That will bring about a drastic thinning of the ranks."

I said, "How does a senator or a governor go about becoming an off-year presidential candidate?"

"He calls a press conference immediately after the election and denies he has any White House ambitions."

Five Injured In Midtown Two-Car Crash

KINGSTON

A two-car collision at the intersection of Henry and Prospect Streets shortly after 5 p.m. Saturday injured five persons and resulted in charges lodged against a woman driver. Police said the injured were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment and later released.

According to police, Richard Glass, 37, of 48 Pine Street, was driving his car along Henry Street when a vehicle operated by Annie M. McCleod, 24, of 153 Clinton Avenue, reportedly pulled out of Prospect Street and the vehicles collided.

The woman was cited for driving while intoxicated and passing a stop sign. The case was scheduled for City Court. The woman sustained a laceration of her chin and bruises of the forehead.

Others injured in the mishap were Darlene Mars, 5, who received bruises of the lips; Donna J. London, 2, of 581 Broadway, bruises of the forehead, and Josephine Mars, 9, of the Clinton Avenue address who sustained bruises of the knees and lips.

Dear Abby

Willed Waitress Tips

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune - N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Something happened in this town which I think should be advertised, nationwide. An elderly gentleman who lived alone in a hotel room died, and in his will he left a lot of money to a waitress. He said she had waited on him with a smile even tho he never left a big tip. In fact, he said there were times when he didn't leave a tip at all, but she still gave him wonderful service.

So, please tell waiters and waitresses that this should be a lesson to them. They should give good service, with a smile, whether the person is a good tipper or not, because some folks don't tip while they're living, but they leave a lot in their wills.

DALLAS

DEAR DALLAS: What you say may be true, but that's a long time to wait for a tip.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your cold comment, "Children owe thanks to no one — including Mother" prompts this letter to tell you how wrong you are. Don't you realize that the trouble with our young people today is that they think their lives are their "own" and they don't owe anybody — including their parents — anything?

Parents spent thousands of dollars and roughly 20 years of their lives on raising a child. Don't you think they are entitled to a little thanks?

I work with high schools girls, and when one of them gripes to me about her mother, I tell her to take a large piece of paper and draw a line down the center, and on one side she should write "Things My Mother Does for Me" and on the other side, "Things I Do for My Mother."

Needless to say, the result is rather lopsided. After that, I don't hear any more gripes from that girl about "Mother."

SOUTH GATE, CAL.

DEAR SOUTH: Rearing children is a responsibility parents ask for when they become parents, and the time and money spent on rearing children are not in my view "gifts" for which parents should expect thanks. No parent expects his child to "do" as much for him as he has done for his child. But when children grow up and choose to become parents themselves, they will in turn do for their children what their parents did for them. And if parents expect "thanks" for rearing children who came into the world because they wanted a family — shame on them.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. I have a girl friend I'll call Terry who broke up with her boy friend I'll call Pete a few months ago. Pete has been calling me but I don't dare go out with him because I know Terry will feel hurt if she finds out about it because she still likes him. I would like to go out with Pete, but knowing how Terry feels about him I can't bring myself to do it.

Pete thinks I am being very foolish because he was completely finished with Terry before he even thought of calling me. Also, I never did one thing to attract his attention before or after they broke up. Can you advise me?

TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED: I think you're foolish, too. If your conscience is clear, go out with him.

* * *

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Opening lead—♠ Q

Oswald: "The bidding in the box is JACOBY MODERN. North's hand is a trifle too weak for an immediate jump shift so he responds two clubs. South rebids to two diamonds. In JACOBY MODERN and all sensible systems this new suit rebid after a two-over-one response is a one-round force. North's jump to three hearts is a game force and South's three spade call announces slam interest.

"The three-heart bid has fixed the suit for the final contract North looks at his maximum and goes into Blackwood. After finding out that South holds two aces and a king, North bids the grand slam. South's king will surely be in hearts. With a queen-high heart suit, he would not have made that three-spade slam try."

Jim: "Is this a real hand or one you made up?"

Oswald: "A real hand from 1931. It was held by Hal Sims and Willard Karn. They reached six hearts by bidding one heart, four hearts, then six hearts and picked up 750 points for our team in that year's Vanderbilt. Our opponents just staggered into game."

Jim: "I can see why you and other top plyers got away from limit raises to using the jump from one to three as a force shortly afterwards."

Oswald: "The medicine was worse than the disease. Forcing jump raises never worked well. Experts later went back to all limit raises. They continued to use the jump to game as a sort of preempt."

Jim: "We have decided to use all limit raises in JACOBY MODERN. This is in full accord with expert practice and makes bidding much simpler."

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SNEAKER: (Q.) The only way I can go out with this boy is to sleep over at my girl friend's. I want so much to go lots of places with him in his car, but my father says I am too young to have dates.

I am 16. The boy is just past 20. Can you tell me what I can do to get to go out with him without deceiving my father? —I Want Him in New Jersey.

(A.) Most girls are permitted to date at 15 or even 14. So you are old enough to have dates. But if your father is convinced you aren't, you must follow his rules.

I advise you to do this, and to quit sneaking. The boy you like is too old for you and what you have been doing could get you into big trouble.

Maybe if you could find a nice boy your age, or maybe 17, or 18, your father would be more willing to let you start dating.

GP FILMS: (Q.) My mother doesn't want me to go to GP movies. My girl friend says this makes no sense, that they are just the same as G pictures. What do you think? I'm 13 and my girlfriend is, too.—Female and Fond of Films in California.

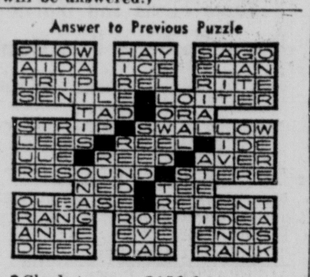

(A.) A movie with a G (General) rating is for viewers of all ages. A GP (General with Parental guidance) movie is likely to be more advanced. So your girl friend is incorrect.

A girl or boy your age should go to a GP movie only with parents or with their approval. You and your friend are probably old enough to see some GP movies, but only if your parents say OK.

Duke's Show — Size Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Big John Wayne mounted an all-out attack Sunday night: 90 minutes of NBC time in a television variety special that mixed history, drama, song, dance, comedy and a hemp of preaching.

"Swing Out, Sweet Land," the vehicle for Wayne's first appearance as a TV star, had a simple, direct theme, expressed by Glen Campbell in the opening moments when he sang "This Is a Great Country," and in the final moments as the huge cast sang "God Bless America."

It was well-intentioned, hopeful and frankly patriotic. But despite the biggest turnout of stars since the last Emmy awards broadcast, it just didn't work very well.

Probably the problem was size, with too many big guest stars to be fitted into appropriate niches. There were the "Bonanza" brothers playing Peter Minuet and an Indian chief haggling over the price of Manhattan Island. There was Bob Hope, clutching a golf club and entertaining the troops at Valley Forge. There was Lorne Greene, as Washington, explaining his silver-dollar-throwing prowess to Jack Benny which led, of course, to a Benny miser joke. Dean Martin was presented slyly as the inventor of the cotton gin. Tommy Smothers was a printer's devil given a chance to read an editorial on dissent.

Rowan and Martin did one of their nonsequitur conversations as the Wright brothers. Red Skelton was a printer—without any good lines. And Lucille Ball read a prayer as the voice of the Statue of Liberty.

Johnny Cash, Leslie Uggams and Roy Clark sang. Ann-Margret danced. Dennis Weaver played Abe Lincoln's father. Bing Crosby was made up to look like Mark Twain and talked about the brotherhood of man. Wayne got into the saddle once and then roamed around a ghost town talking about the good old days. The Boston Tea Party was staged; a huge set showing the United States split in half to show the Civil War. It was all on a very large scale.

But it missed. Despite the lofty sentiment and ideals, nothing that was done touches the viewers' emotions, more is the pity.

Earlier, also on NBC, an hour was devoted to a behind-the-scenes look at the making of the hit motion picture, "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." If one had not seen the film, it was a waste of time.

"Pets Allowed," a children's special on NBC Saturday noon was gaited to the very young viewers. It showed an assortment of domesticated animals and their owners. It was low-key and Sid Caesar handled the commentary with broad humor. If there was a message, it was the example of gentle handling and good care of family pets.

Nixon Readies an Inflation Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, nagged by persistent evidence of a queasy economy, will gently but firmly nudge labor unions and big business toward cutting back wage demands and prices, sources say.

In an inflation alert to be released this week, the President will single out more specifically than ever the wage settlements Nixon says are inflationary, according to the sources.

The recent agreement signed by the United Auto Workers union after a 67-day strike at General Motors Corp. will be mentioned, as will the continuing contract talks with Ford Motor Co.

Corporations also are urged, the sources said, not to react to wage settlements by passing the extra coasts on to consumers, as did GM in announcing price increases for its 1971 model cars.

At the White House last week, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had said the new alert will be tougher on what the administration believes are excessive wage and price hikes.

Talking about the largest increase in consumer prices registered in six months, Ziegler said, "We will have to intensify our efforts to deal with this matter."

But the sources said Nixon is not applying direct pressure or persuasion or setting voluntary wage-price guidelines as was tried under the Johnson and Kennedy administrations.

The inflation alert comes as Nixon worries about inflation factors, including:

—The new three-year GM-UAW pact providing first year wage increases of between 49 and 61 cents hourly for the first year with an automatic 3 per cent increase and a penny-an-hour advance for each four-tenths upward movement in the government's Consumer Price Index in the second and third years. Average hourly pay under the old contract was $4.02.

—Though the negotiators for the UAW and Ford Motor Co. will probably hammer out a settlement before a strike deadline next Monday, the resulting contract is expected to at least match the GM pact.

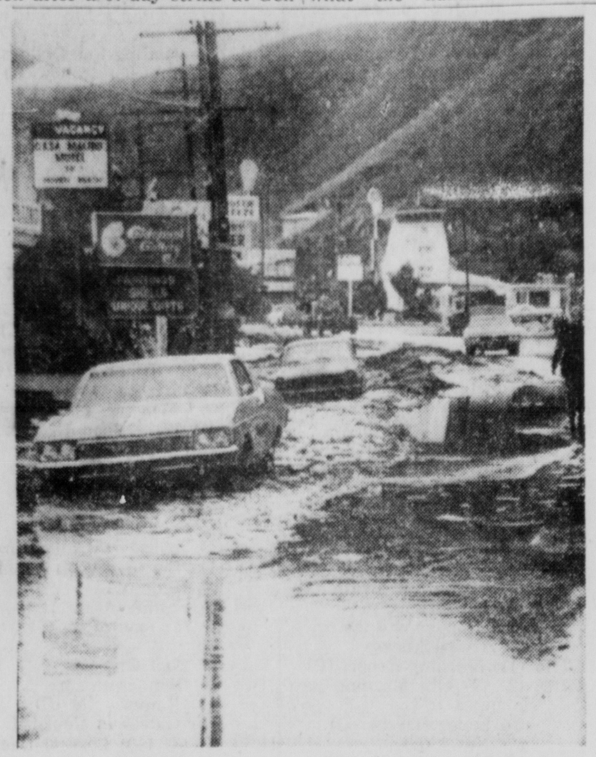

—United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel has put the steel industry on notice he will seek "a very substantial" pay hike as well as the first cost of living clause in the union's history. Talks with the nation's No. 1 steel maker, U.S. Steel Corp., begin next year.

—The Labor Department said Sunday the average pay of firemen and police patrolmen has increased by 9 per cent over the last year.

—The department also provided record-breaking evidence of the effect of the GM strike. It said there were 10 million man-days lost in October, the highest figure for a comparable period in 10 years. Some 7 million of the lost days were accountable to the GM walkout.

—The recommendations of a presidential emergency board that unions representing 80 per cent of the nation's rail workers be awarded an 11 per cent wage hike over three years.

The lines have accepted the proposal which calls for the largest increase in railroad history. The four unions involved say it's not enough.

COAST SOAKING — The first big rain storm of Fall soaked Southern California, flooding streets and endangering areas burned during the September and October brush fires. The Pacific Coast Highway near the Malibu Pier was reported by the Highway Patrol to be under three to six feet of water, and was closed to traffic. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Panthers Eye New Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Black Panther party, temporarily scrapping plans to write a new U.S. Constitution, have turned instead to a long-term goal of a utopian Communist world society free of oppression.

About 5,000 delegates representing racial minorities, women, and homosexuals flocked to Washington over the weekend to the Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention, which was to have acted on ideas threshed out in workshops at Philadelphia over the Labor Day holiday.

But it was a convention without a convention hall, and delegates spent much of their weekend drifting aimlessly until a Sunday night speech by Huey P. Newton, the Panthers' minister of defense.

"We will hold our Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention for a raincheck until such a time as we liberate Washington, D.C., and then we'll hold it in the White House, but we'll call it the Black House," Newton told 400 persons in a church while another 1,000 listened outside via loudspeakers.

He described the Panther's goal of a "new world" society without boundaries, where everyone would have an equal voice, work would mean "meaningful play" and each person would produce to his ability and take according to his actual needs.

Newton also explained how the party's ideology had evolved, first from nationalism to "revolutionary nationalism within a socialist framework," followed by international socialism and the current goal of "revolutionary intercommunalism" and ultimately true communism.

And, borrowing a phrase from Mao Tse-tung, Newton said, "In order to get rid of the gun, it is sometimes necessary to take up the gun."

But the weekend was free of violence, with the aid of Panther marshals who maintained discipline when delegates became restless, and Newton's speech was relatively free of antipolice slogans.

Newton blamed Howard University, a predominantly Negro institution, for sidetracking the convention by withdrawing an offer of its facilities after it said the Panthers didn't meet prior conditions.

The only formal action taken during the weekend was adoption of a resolution naming the Black Panther party's headquarters in Algiers as its only representative abroad.

Anchorage Plane Crash

Dutchess Man Victim

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Brakes on a military charter jet may have locked on takeoff, exploding two tires and causing the flaming crash that killed 47 persons, federal investigators said Sunday.

—Two upstate New York servicemen and a third from Pennsylvania's northern tier were listed Sunday as "missing and presumed dead" in the crash of a chartered jet transport.

Army Pvt. William J. Carter of Niagara Falls, N.Y., Airman 1C. Kenneth E. Fuller of Ulster, Pa., and Air Force Sgt. Vincent V. Hendryk of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., were among those killed in the Friday crash at Anchorage.

Five servicemen remained unidentified out of the 46 killed.

Pieces of rubber tires littered the 10,900-foot runway where the Capitol International Airways DC8 stretch jet made its takeoff run Friday.

In several places, rubber appeared to be melted into the asphalt runway of Anchorage International Airport.

A special team of investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) inspected mile-long skid marks, debris and wreckage Sunday and interviewed survivors.

Investigator Frank Malone said it was possible the brakes locked, causing tires to blow out as the Vietnam-bound jet with 219 passengers and a crew of 10 rolled down the runway at 170 miles per hour.

However, NTSB investigators said there were other possible causes and would not give a definite cause until flight and voice recordings flown to Washington, D.C., had been analyzed.

Malone said the plane's No. 1 engine had been checked for a "slight vibration" before the flight departed Friday from McChord AFB, Wash.

Some survivors, including a jet mechanic, said they saw fuel or oil leaking from one of the engines. NTSB investigators would not comment on that possibility.

Forty-five Army and Air Force men and one stewardess died in the wreckage. An Army private died Saturday of severe burns.

Military spokesmen said 59 persons remained hospitalized in Anchorage and 11 badly burned passengers were flown Sunday to the burn center at Brooke Army Medical Hospital, San Antonio, Tex.

The pilot, William G. Reid of Napa, Calif., said he attempted to bring the big plane to a stop when trouble developed during takeoff after a refueling stop here.

Investigators would not allow reporters to speak with Reid or other crew members, but other survivors said the plane was jolted by a series of small explosions.

When the huge craft came to rest in a swampy area east of the runway, it was in three pieces. Most of the 182 survivors escaped during the five minutes before the plane exploded and burned.

Bonn Envoy, Wife Suicide

LISBON (AP) — West Germany's ambassador to Portugal, Dr. Hans Schmidt-Horix, and his wife committed suicide during the night, the embassy announced today.

A brief statement said the couple killed themselves for "private reasons."

Schmidt-Horix was 61 and had been ambassador in Lisbon since April 1, 1969. He served in Washington just before World War II and again in the 1950s. He had also been ambassador to Afghanistan and Iraq.

He and his wife, Barbara, had two children.
